Session on A-Bomb Is Secret

Second Held to Discuss Sharing Secret With Any Other Country

WASHINGTON, July 20—(AP)—A move to tie President Truman's hands against giving away atomic bomb information to any country was reported under discussion in congress today.

A lawmaker who asked not to be quoted by name said that unless the senate-house atomic committee receives definite assurance that the president doesn't intend giving A-bomb know-how to the British in an executive agreement, such a move may be made.

This legislator said that, if it comes, it will be in the form of a resolution to put Congress—or at least the Senate—on record as saying that the Atomic Energy Act bars any such exchange of information without prior approval by the lawmakers.

The possibility of such an exchange, by presidential action alone, was broached at a hush-hush Blair House conference of 16 top government officials last week.

Capital Buzzing

Another secret session of top officials with the joint atomic committee called for this afternoon, had the capitol buzzing.

At last week's closed session some who attended were said to have contended that the present act does not bar the furnishing of secrets to the British if the president decides to take that course. Others argued that only Congress could make such a decision.

Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) called the Senate-House committee together (12:30 p. m. CST) to explore this field, along with representatives of the Atomic Energy commission and military officials.

What members learned at that session about the possibility of presidential action probably will guide their future actions, some of them said.

Secretary of State Acheson left it strictly up to Congress to do any talking that is done about the talks on atomic dealings with Britain and Canada.

All the secretary himself would do was agree that that was the subject for a hush-hush session at the capitol this afternoon.

Acheson was asked at his news conference if he could "provide any enlightenment on this government's atomic relations with Britain and Canada."

He replied that it was a matter that would be discussed with the Senate-House joint atomic committee and any comment about it must wait at least until after the discussion.

Asked whether he expected to make any statement after the session, Acheson said he had no plan to do so. He said the committee might but he did not know of any plans for it.

Does the administration propose to share fully the nation's post-war atomic secrets and "know how" with Great Britain and Canada?

Will such a step, if undertaken, be done through executive agreement, or by action of Congress?

Is there a "squeeze play" on involving the nation's uranium supply—the lifeblood of the atomic enterprise.

These and other questions circulated freely as the joint Senate-House atomic committee prepared to sit down (1:30 p. m. EST) with state, military and atomic leaders to explore the "continuing problem" of relations with Britain and Canada in the atomic field.

The conference was announced yesterday by Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) as a sequel to the Blair House meeting last Thursday night.

McMahon partially lifted the secrecy veil on that meeting by saying that the 16 state, military, congressional and atomic leaders had at that session discussed with President Truman British-Canadian relations in the atomic field.

But neither McMahon nor other Congress members who took part in the discussion would disclose the details.

And none would elaborate on the bare announcement that today's meeting would be a discussion about "the problems which lie ahead in our relations with the United Kingdom and Canada in this (atomic) field."

Union Leader Fined $1,000, Sent to Jail

For Having Picket Line in Violation Of Court Order

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., July 20—(AP)—An AFL union official today was fined $1,000 and sentenced to six months in jail for ordering a picket line around a construction project in violation of a court order.

Failing to call off the pickets was a "deliberate" contempt of court, Chancery Judge John K. Butt said in finding Joe Folsom, Fort Smith union leader, guilty of violating a court injunction.

Folsom was accused of sending six men back on a picket line around a building job here after Chancellor Butt had ordered the picketing stopped. The six pickets earlier were fined and sentenced to jail.

In delivering a strongly worded decision, Judge Butt said he would not sanction such actions in Washington county.

Regrettable Incident

He said he had no objections to unions but added that it was unfortunate that union matters had to be drawn into the case. He said he thought the unions had erred in placing the power of leadership in such persons who attempt to impose their own way of doing things.

When Judge Butt imposed the fines and jail sentences on the pickets, he called them "stupid" for violating the restraining order and said that union officials who issued the instructions also should be punished.

The labor dispute involved a new rural electrification administration building here on which contractor Carl Tune was using workers not members of the AFL Hod Carriers' union.

Judge Butt granted Folson ten days in which to ask the Arkansas supreme court to review the case. His bond was set at $5,000.

Academy Board Making Study of Military Needs

WASHINGTON, July 20—(AP)—The air force has advised the House Armed Services committee and interested congressmen it is "refraining from comment" this time on bills which seek to fix a site for the proposed air academy.

Sites in Missouri—Sedalia—Kansas and Oklahoma are among those proposed.

It said the secretary of defense has appointed a service academy board to study and determine needs and that this board is expected to make recommendations for all three branches of the military establishment.

In view of this, the letter said, the air force is keeping silent now on the various measures to create an air academy.

Lions Speaker Talks on Glass

The Sedalia Lions club, at its noonday meeting, today, at the Bothwell hotel heard an interesting history on the discovery of glass and uses of it today. The talk was given by Otis W. Wiley, superintendent of the Pittsburgh-Corning Corp., plant in Sedalia.

Mr. Wiley told of glass of the early days and brought his talk up to the latest uses. Glass is now being used, he said, for fly rods for fishermen, glass cloth of various fabrics and colors, glass springs, glass nuts and bolts, glass cooking dishes, foam glass for installation, glass blocks for construction, gaskets for motors, glass wire coverings for electric motors, glass lubrication and thousands of other uses.

He told of the largest telescope lens in the world being poured by Pittsburgh-Corning, and what it is now being used for.

Mr. Wiley had several samples of glass articles on which he spoke.

Noel Tweet, program chairman, introduced Mr. Wiley.

Virgil Herrick, general chairman of the Lions Air show which is to be sponsored by the club at the Sedalia Municipal airport on Sunday, August 14, announced his committee chairmen.

A. W. Haller, president, presided over the meeting.

Bomber Crash; No One Killed

OMAHA, July 20.—(AP)—A B-25 bomber crashed and caught fire while landing at Offutt Air Force base today but there were no deaths.

Only one of the seven persons aboard was injured. Staff Sgt. T. M. Thompson, Moberly, Mo., suffered a sprained shoulder.

Col. C. T. Edwinson, base commander, said the plane was based at Castle Air Force base, Merced, Calif., and was en route to Wright-Patterson Air Force base, Dayton, O. Capt. H. T. Levack was the pilot. The craft was stopping at Offutt, headquarters of the Strategic Air Command, to refuel.

Colonel Edwinson said the plane went into a skid while landing but the cause was not immediately determined. Occupants got out of the plane before the fire gained headway and the blaze was quickly extinguished.

Russia States Italy Has Broken Treaty

Sends Protest Notes to America, Britain And France

By the Associated Press

Russia has sent a diplomatic note to Italy protesting her signing of the North Atlantic Treaty. Russia charged Italy violated the terms of her peace treaty. The British and Italian foreign offices denied it.

Simultaneously Russia sent protest notes to the United States, Britain and France accusing these powers of urging Italy to join the Atlantic pact in violation of peace treaty terms.

Ratification of the pact is under discussion in Italy's lower house of parliament—the Chamber of Deputies. It is expected to pass both houses without difficulty.

WASHINGTON, July 20 —(AP)—Secretary Acheson today described as "utterly without foundation" a Russian protest that Italy's membership in the Atlantic Alliance would violate the Italian peace treaty.

The secretary of state told a news conference he had received the Soviet protest only today.

Specifically Russia said the Italian action broke Italy's peace treaty signed in Paris in February 1947. This treaty, Russia said, pledged Italy "to abstain from undertaking any actions directed against states with which that treaty was signed and consequently not to join any alliance or other groupings pursuing aggressive aims."

Calls Charges Absurd

An Italian foreign office spokesman said the charge was "absurd and ridiculous."

The Russian note also said the treaty limited Italy's armed services and war industry, yet she was already negotiating with the United States for expanded war forces. Russia charges the Atlantic Pact has aggressive aims against the Soviet Union and other communist nations. Western powers contend the past will insure peace.

The Chinese Communist war machine is rolling southward again. Nationalist sources in Canton said communist troops in Kiangsi are spearheading in three directions towards Hunan, China's rice bowl. The fate of South China hangs on what happens in Hunan. Nationalists said the battle now joined would be one of the biggest and most decisive in the prolonged civil war.

The Communist press in Czechoslovakia said today that the government-sponsored Catholic action movement has taken the place of the Roman Catholic hierarchy as spokesman for Czechoslovakia's 8,000,000 Roman Catholics. Archbishop Josef Beran and his bishops are under police surveliance and perhaps effectively silenced.

To By-Pass Hierachy

According to the press reports, the government will now by-pass the hierarchy and sign a new church-state agreement with the Catholic Action Organization. This would give the government control of church affairs on its own terms.

Britain's labor government rebuked the national dock labor board for threatening to take away important labor benefits if London's 15,000 dock workers do not go back to work. The board threatened to withdraw virtual closed shop provisions and regular pay and vacation guarantees. The government urged the men to return but said they would not forfeit these benefits.

Gambling Czar And 3 Others Hit by Bullets

None Killed, But All Are in a Serious Condition

By Bob Thomas and Jim Bacon

LOS ANGELES, July 20—(AP)—Gangsters' bullets early today cut down gambling czar Mickey Cohen and three other persons—including a state-appointed bodyguard for the dapper hoodlum—as the party left a smart Sunset Strip cafe.

"None of the party was killed outright but all were in a serious condition, including Harry Cooper, 36, a special bodyguard assigned to Cohen by the California attorney general.

None of the party was killed, but Harry Cooper, a special bodyguard assigned to Cohen by the California attorney general, was in a critical condition.

The other victims were Miss Dee David, a blonde, and Edward (Neddie) Herbert, a Cohen henchman. Herbert escaped 11 gangland bullets only a month ago as he was entering his apartment.

Key Figure in Inquiry

Cohen is a key figure in the sizzling grand jury inquiry into police vice tieups which already has resulted in a wholesale shakeup of the Los Angeles police department.

Only yesterday Attorney General Fred Howser disclosed that he had assigned Cooper to guard Cohen, presumably because Cohen had expressed fear that eastern gangsters were in town to assassinate him.

Barney Ruditsky, co-owner of Sherry's restaurant, where the shooting took place, said everybody was leaving the place about 4 a. m. (PST) when the shotgun charges rang out.

"It sounded like firecrackers and everybody hit the walk. There were about 25 or 30 people on the street at the time.

"Cooper yelled 'I'm hit'."

Shots From Across the Street

Ruditsky, a former New York City detective, said the shots came from across the street in the vicinity of the Bing Crosby building which serves as offices for the various enterprises of the crooner.

Sheriff's deputies later found two shotguns across the street.

Cohen told District Attorney's Investigator H. Leo Stanley that he didn't "know what the shooting was all about."

Miss Florabel Muir, widely known newspaper columnist, was among those on the sidewalk. A bullet went through her sleeve and grazed her arm. She writes for variety magazine, the Los Angeles Mirror and the New York Daily News.

Ruditsky said he found seven empty shotgun cartridges on the other side of the street. He said apparently the gunmen had fled on foot.

President Truman Home After Attending Shrine Party

WASHINGTON, July 20—(AP)—President Truman returned by plane from Chicago today and said he had an "enjoyable trip" but would "like to get my hands on" the fellow who kept calling for "Chloe."

The reference was to a merry-maker who, with help from other noise makers, kept the president and his party awake most of last night.

The president's plane, the Independence, made the flight from Chicago in two hours and three minutes. It landed at Washington airport at 9:16 a. m. (EST).

A group of government officials was on hand to greet the president but Mr. Truman gave more attention to little Mike Folliard who was there to greet his dad, Edward Folliard, Washington Post correspondent who covered the Chicago speaking.

Visited With Child

Mr. Truman and Mike shook hands and the president examined and admired the cap pistol that young Folliard wore in a holster.

After his brief chat with Mike and reporters, Mr. Truman went directly to the White House.

Last night was one he probably will long remember.

A band played until after 3:00 a. m. (EST) in the Stevens hotel where the president stayed and another band performed in the streets nearby. Shriners were celebrating their diamond jubilee.

Enthusiastic merrymakers tried barber-shop harmony and one lusty-lunged fellow called continually for "Chloe" in the darkness.

Up Early

Then some fire crackers started popping nearby.

At 4 a. m. the president was out of bed.

Radioactive Rock Found in Ste. Genevieve

Kind of Mineral; Extent of Deposit Not Yet Known

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 20—(AP)—Radioactive rock has been found in Ste. Genevieve county, Missouri, Dr. Edward L. Clark, state geologist, announced today.

The kind of mineral and the extent of the deposit are unknown. But Dr. Clark said the rock undoubtedly contains some uranium compound.

The radioactivity is stroug enough to make a Geiger counter click like a fast telegraph key.

Dr. Clark said the find—confirmed at a quarry near Ste Genevieve yesterday—"raises the possibility that this rock might be found in quantities large enough to become commercially valuable in connection with the atomic energy stockpile."

Uranium is the fissionable metal which provides the energy for the atomic bomb. The principal United States sources are in Colorado, Utah and New Mexico.

To Study Samples

Dr. Clark said the kind of uranium found in Missouri and the extent of its radioactivity will be determined by the atomic energy commission. He plans to send samples from the Ste. Genevieve quarry to the New York laboratories at once.

So far he would say only that the radioactivity is not as strong as in high grade ores now being used by the AEC.

Two kinds of rock were found to start the Geiger counter clicking at a fast pace. One is a yellow streak of metal in a chunk of gray spergen limestone. The other is a soft black shale.

Dr. Clark said Spergen limestone is known to occur near Ste. Genevieve and also near St. Louis. But similar black shale is found associated with many types of limestone throughout the state.

Site Near River

Charles Bussen of Ste. Genevieve and formerly of St. Louis, spotted the pecular yellow streaked limestone in his quarry five and a half miles north of Ste. Genevieve. The site overlooks the Mississippi river.

He sent the sample to Clark at his office in Rolla a week ago. And Monday Dr. Garrett Muilenberg, the geological survey's economic geologist, spotted the radioactivity in a routine check of the sample.

Yesterday Clark and Muilenberg went to the quarry for a closer look. There they found the radioactive black shale in a shall seam in the limestone.

Court Order to Repair Bridge

The Pettis County court, this morning, made an emergency order to repair a washed out bridge in the Kendrick Special Road District No. 33 and to charge the installation and construction against the district. However, the county will make the necessary repairs.

The order stated in part the need for the emergency order is due to the fact the road is used by the mail route, and also for transporting county road equipment to other districts and as it is today, it is badly in need of repairs.

The district, it was reported by the court, is unable to make the necessary repairs for lack of funds. It was reported by the court, the costs of repairs will not be large.

Cloudburst Hits St. Louis Area

ST. LOUIS, July 20.—(AP)—A cloudburst hit the St. Louis area at going-to-work time this morning. About three inches of rain fell in an hour, from 7 a. m. to 8 a .m. and delayed busses, street cars and automobiles as sewers and underpasses overflowed.

The wind was up to 50 miles an hour, and there was extensive damage to trees and wiring. Union Electric Co. called out every man available for emergency work and assembled a crew of 350.

The rain was so hard it blocked vision, and many drivers stopped and waited.

Governor to Montana

JEFFERSON CITY, July 20.—(AP)—Gov. Forrest Smith took off by plane this morning for Helena, Mont., and a meeting of the Missouri Basin Inter-agency committee.

He flew in a St. Louis Post-Dispatch plane. A refueling stop was planned at North Platte, Neb. He returns to his office Saturday.

Mother Brings Son's Body For Burial

City of Portland, Ore., Wires Money For Rose Wreath

Kindness, touched with tears, predominated in the crowd that met Mrs. Joseph Sumners and her eight-year-old son, Lelando, who accompanied the body of Jacob Charles Sumners from the state of Oregon, when they stepped from the train at the Missouri Pacific depot this afternoon.

Jacob Sumners, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sumners, who have been living in Oregon for the past two years, made headlines when he gave up his life to save another life last Thursday in the Sandy river in Portland, Ore.

When the boy was drowned, the parents and the other five children just had $25.00. A Californian, who did not want any publicity, arranged for funeral arrangements and the trip back to Missouri.

Treated Fine

Mrs. Sumners said that people have treated them fine and that she didn't even see the man who furnished the trip back here. Her six-months-old son was left in charge of a volunteer registered nurse in Portland. Mrs. Sumners said she and her son would leave to re-join their family in Portland next Wednesday.

Besides the many neighbors from Lincoln and Sedalia, Mrs. Sumners was met by her brother C. E. Burnett of Lincoln, route 2, who took her and her son to Lincoln.

The Reser hearse of Lincoln came for the body. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at Lincoln Mt. Pleasant church, south of Lincoln.

This afternoon, the State Fair Floral company received a wire from the city of Portland, Ore., to furnish a rose wreath in the shape of a heart for the funeral.

Second Tragic Death in Family

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., July 20.—(AP)—Coroner Grover Greer today ordered post mortem examination of the body of Henry B. McManus, 21 year old Ripley county farmer, who died at a hospital here last night apparently the victim of poison.

The coroner said McManus told his father, Bert McManus, he had been poisoned and named the person he believed responsible.

McManus was arrested at Doniphan July 10 in connection with a street distrubrance. He became ill the next morning while still in jail, and was later released to his father who took him to a Doniphan hospital. He was brought to a hospital here when his condition failed to improve. His attending physician refused to sign a death certificate, the coroner said, because of the question as to cause of death.

It was the second tragic death in the family of Bert McManus within a week. Elmon McManus, 40, another son, died Sunday of injuries received in an automobile accident about a month ago.

More Hot Weather Is in Prospect

CHICAGO, July 20—(AP)—More hot weather is in prospect today for wide areas from the Rockies into the southeastern states.

Temperatures of above 100 are forecast for parts of Oklahoma and in the 90's for most of the southwest. The mercury touched 103 at Wichita, Kas., yesterday and was in the 90s over much of the Great Plains and eastern Rockies. Highs of 100 were general in northern Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas. Chadron, Neb., and Fort Smith, Ark., each reported readings of 100.

Temperatures are near normal over the Great Lakes region and the northwest Pacific states and slightly above normal in the eastern states.

Transport Crashes On Houses

Six Victims Die In The Houses; Most Persons on Plane Are Saved

SEATTLE, July 20—(AP)—An air transport with 32 persons aboard crashed into five houses last night in a take off from Seattle's Boeing Field.

The coroner's office reported many hours later that six bodies had been found in the wreckage of the twin-enginer C-46 and the debris of the wrecked homes. The serch was continuing.

Miraculously, most — if not all, —of the persons aboard the Chicago-bound, non-schedule plane escaped with their lives. Most of the victims were believed to have perished in the houses.

The coroner's office said two of the six bodies had been tentatively identified. The names were not released immediately. Coroner's officers said none of the dead had been identified as having been aboard the plane.

The president of the operating company, Air Transport Associates, Inc., said he did not think any of those aboard were killed.

Engine Failure

A failure of one of the engines was blamed for the catastrophe. The plane, unable to gain sufficient altitude quickly, hit power lines above the Georgetown district in Seattle's south end. Then it plummeted into the house below, carrying death and destruction with it.

Cutting of power lines threw the area into darkness, breken by the area into darkness broken by of the dangerously dangling wires.

The C-46 was a two-engine, 50-passenger transport of a type used widely during the war for troop and cargo carriers.

Seventeen of the plane's 28 passengers and four crew members were hospitalized with injuries. Eight others were treated and released. Three were unhurt and four were unaccounted for.

Seven residents of the damaged homes also were injured, and four firemen were hospitalized, when a gasoline tank exploded three and a half hours after the crash.

The 50-passenger plane crashed seconds after it took off from Boeing Field on a non-scheduled flight to Chicago for Air Transport Associates, Inc.

Amos E. Heacock, company president and a passenger on the plane, said both engines checked out "without a sputter" at the end of the runway.

"But soon after we got into the air one motor began sputtering and the pilot evidently thought it best to continue. A few seconds later he pulled back on the throttle, apparently intending to land," Heacock said.

"Then he perceived almost immediately that he could not land and pulled throttle again, continuing to climb with a sputtering engine."

Another witness said the right motor of the plane sputtered, then cut out. The plane failed in its climb and began clipping the tops of utility poles.

Power lines and telephone wires were clipped, plunging the area into darkness and disrupting communications.

Its wide wings cutting swaths through frame houses, the plane ripped through five Georgetown homes. It buried its nose in one structure.

About two minutes later it exploded.

During that short interval, passengers jumped or were thrown from the tail of the plane which had been sheared off in the crash.

Heacock said he personally chrecked all seats of the plane and all passengers had gotten out before the blast. The airline president said he found his wife, acting as stewardess, struggling with her head between two seats and threw her "bodily" off the plane.

"Then I went through the pilots' compartment, which was torn off the craft. I found two pilots struggling and a third pilot apparently dazed or unconscious.

"All three were entangled in safety belts and wreckage. One man, James M. Adams, the co-pilot, was pleading with me to get him out. I pulled the wreckage off him and picked him up and threw him clear of the flames."

Burglary Revealed by Negro Tied to Tree

WICHITA, Kas., July 20—(AP)—A taxi driver's discovery of a 47-year-old Negro tied to a street sign revealed the burglary of a northeast Wichita theater early Tuesday.

The Negro—Isaiah H. Walls—told police three men, one armed, accosted him on the way to work at the Tower theater. He said they took the keys from him and held him at gun point as they drilled the office safe. Loss was estimated at $671, detective Capt. R. B. Price said.

Game of Craps Officially Part of Gambling Casino

MONTE CARLO, Monaco, July 20—(AP)—Little Joe from Kokomo came to Monte Carlo today.

Lillian Moore, platinum blonde American dancer billed here as "one of the most beautiful blondes in New York," tossed out the dice for the first time and the game of craps officially became part of the world-famed Monte Carlo gambling casino.

Manning the table was Albert Jauffret, for 25 years a croupier at the casino before the directors sent him to America to staudy the gentle art of crapshooting.

Ajuffret became a crapshooting professor by studying the game for three months in Toledo, Cincinnati, Las Vegas, Reno, Boise and Sun Valley.

"We have adopted the Idaho system for Monte Carlo," Jauffret said. "Because the betting isn't as complicated."

He said there are 65 different ways to play dice in America. The Idaho system was an easier one to understand.

You lose your money betting the shooter will make it the hard way — a four by throwing two twos, a six by throwing two threes, an eight by throwing two fours or ten by coming up with a pair of fives.

Skywriter is Waiting For Clear Weather

All August A. Ficken of Miami, Fla., is waiting for in Sedalia is a clear afternoon so that he can go up and be gone from Sedalia in less than eight minutes. And then fly to Columbia and skywrite a sign there. And then go on to St. Louis.

Ficken flew from Springfield to Sedalia Monday in his red, white and blue 8T6 modeled airplane to skywrite a sign here for the Pepsi Cola Bottling company. He was up Monday morning, but had to land, because he said it was too cloudy.

Ficken, who pilots his plane, said skywriting is done above 10,000 feet in smooth air. The letters in Pepsi Cola are over a mile long. The sign is about 15 miles across and only takes between seven and eight minutes to write, although it takes about 30 miles of flying to write the word Pepsi.

He said that the smoke was made by injecting an oil mixture into the exhaust of the engine, which is controlled by valves in the cockpit by turning them off and on.

Ficken started skywriting in 1934 and has been with the Pepsi Cola company since 1937. During his flying career he has spent 8,000 hours in the air and has written over 4,000 signs in 40 states. He has flown since 1928 and spent four years in the army as a major in the Air Transport Command.

He said the job of sky writing is not dangerous, but is precise and timed flying.

The Nation Today

Mixed Opinions on Justice Murphy Who Died Tuesday

by James Marlow

WASHINGTON, July 20—(AP)—There are mixed opinions on the stature of Justice Frank Murphy, who died yesterday.

But if any epitaph is needed for him this one would be true: He wrote well and he thought in terms of people.

His opinions had life and feeling. Compared with some Supreme Court opinions that have been handed down, his were clear and easy to read.

It is easy for a man, elevated to the great eminence of the Supreme Court, to grow far away from people and think of abstract principles.

Philosophy Summed Up

This, perhaps, sums up his philosophy as well as anything:

"The immutable rights of the individual, including those secured by the due process clause of the fifth amendment, belong not alone to the members of those nations that excel on the battlefield or that subscribe to the democratic ideology.

"They belong to every person in the world, victor and vanquished, whatever may be his race, color or beliefs. They rise above any status of belligerency or outlawry.

"They survive any popular passion or frenzy of the moment. No court or legislature or executive, not even the mightiest army in the world, can ever destroy them.

"Such is the universal and indestructible nature of the rights which the fifth amendment recognizes and protects when life or liberty is threatened by virtue of the authority of the United States."

A Caustic Dissent

He wrote that in a caustic dissent when a majority of the Supreme Court upheld a U. S. Army commission's death sentence for the captured Japanese general, Tomoyuki Yamashita, in 1946.

The Washington Post, which today discussed Murphy's place in Supreme Court history, acknowledges his concern for the rights of individuals but thinks he falls a good deal short of greatness. It says:

"In spite of his devotion to the cause of civil rights and his humanitarian spirit, Murphy can not be regarded as one of the great men of the American judiciary.

"His special talent was not that of the judge but that of the crusader, and his record might well have been more notable if he had not attempted to reconcile his humanitarianism with a judicial robe."

Sensitive To The Times

It's probably too soon to call the shot on Murphy. He was certainly sensitive to the times he lived in when the maintenance of civil rights every day becomes more of an issue.

He'll be quoted from time to time for years by lawyers, which is about the best legal immortality a justice can hope for although the passing years are unlikely to turn him into a giant like Justice Holmes.

References to him among laymen will grow infrequent in a few months. Most of them within a couple of years probably will forget the year in which he died.

And in a few years more his name most likely will slip out of the memory of the big majority of living Americans. And if you doubt this, ask yourself:

Many Able Men

Who are the other eight justices left on the court now? Can you remember the names of all the Supreme Court justices of the past 15 years?

And yet this forgetfulness about some of this country's most distinguished men is, in a backhanded kind of way, probably one of the best signs of the country's almost inexhaustible richness in ability.

Men of talent, of great earnestness for public service, come out of comparative oblivion, work faithfully for the nation, retire or die, and there seems to be an endless stream of able men to take their place.

Attended Funeral

Those from out of town who attended the funeral services held for Billy Echard July 12 were: Mr. and Mrs. Julian Wilborn, of Fort Worth, Texas; Mrs. Bruce Harling of Fort Worth, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Welborn and sons of Wilberton, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wilborn, of Erie, Kas.; Mr. and Mrs.; Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Wilborn and sons of Warrensburg; Mr. and Mrs. James Wilborn and daughter of Warrensburg, the grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Wilborn and her three granddaughters, Barbara, Beverly and Betty of Warrensburg; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilborn of Tulsa, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stephenson of Tulsa, Okla., and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Echard and son, of Flint, Mich.

No Help From City Papers

CHICAGO, July 20.—(AP)—President Truman says he never has received support from any metropolitan daily newspapers in a "bitter" election campaign, and he has "no respect for their political prognostications or their influence."

Mr. Truman, speaking informally at a reception by Illinois Democratic leaders last night, said that Arthur Hays Sulzberger, president of the New York Times, has acknowledged he was "misinformed" when he told Pope Pius in 1948 that Mr. Truman had no chance of election.

The president said Sulzberger told the Pope he could "assure" him "that I wouldn't be in the White House after January." However, Mr. Truman said, when he later took up the matter with the New York newspaper executive, Sulzberger said that newspaper men "polled themselves" and "didn't talk to the voters."

Sulzburger, in New York, said he had "always assumed that a conversation with the Pope was as confidential as one that might be had with the President of the United States."

"I shall continue to adhere to my naive beliefs," he added.

King's Nephew to Wed in the Atumn

LONDON, July 20.—(AP)—King George's nephew, the Earl of Harewood, will marry his Vienna-born fiancee, Miss Marion Stein, in the autumn.

The Earl said so today, soon after formal announcement of the nobleman-and-commoner engagement. The ceremony will be in a Church of England chapel. The Earl said Miss Stein, like himself, is a member of this official state church.

Miss Stein, a pianist, is 22. The Earl, 26, is the son of the Princess Royal, Mary, sister of King George. He is 11th in line to the British throne.

Ask Help to Stop Flow of Illicit Liquor

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 20.—(AP)—The United Dry Association of Oklahoma today called upon the federal government to send agents to help stop the flow of illicit liquor into this dry state.

The request came after it was disclosed this week that the last Oklahoma legislature unknowingly passed a law allowing federal agents to aid in enforcement of the state's prohibition laws.

The law, known as the "bone dry" measure, had been repealed by another "sleeper" clause in the state's beer tax bill in 1947. The 1949 reenactment was in a bill allowing sacramental wine to be transported into Oklahoma.

Dinner for Tractor Dealers

Twenty-one Ford tractor dealers attended a demonstration of the Wood Brothers corn pickers at the Engle Tractor and Implement Company warehouse, Main street and Lamine avenue, Tuesday afternoon and a dinner in the Palm room of the Bothwell hotel that evening.

The dealers attended from ten surrounding counties. The afternoon demonstration was held at 3:00 o'clock and given by Carl Marmount, James E. O'Bryant and Clarence Vestal, all of Springfield. The meeting was arranged by Scudder Hull.

Clarence Vestal was guest speaker at the dinner, which began at 6:30 o'clock. He was introduced by J. E. O'Bryant. The topic of his talk was "Corn-pickers and the Service On Ford Tractors." Attending these meetings was William Chamberlin, of Springfield, who is the District Supervisor of the Ford tractors.

Among those who attended were Carl Hausmann of California, Don Rohrbach and Leroy Henry of Jefferson City, Ed Hunt and Doris Scrivner of Eldon, William Wood of Fayette, George Rissling, J. R. Krewson and Everett Austin of Clinton, George Russell and Fred Barnes of Columbia, Oliver Murrell of Boonville and Scudder Hull and Everett Stebenson of Sedalia.

NAVY'S FAST ACTION SAVES A SAILOR'S LIFE—

These dramatic pictures taken in the mid-Atlantic show how one of the U. S. Navy's special rescue methods saved the life of a seaman stricken with appendicitis on the 1949 Midshipmen's Cruise. Lester T. O'Brien, of Cleveland, O., was transferred from the USS Fraser, which has no surgery facilities, to the USS Missouri on a stretcher. Once aboard, he was rushed to sick bay where a doctor made a rapid blood count. He was operated on immediately and a few hours later smoked a cigaret and grinned happily from his bed "Operation successful" was written into the record and Seaman O'Brien spent his liberty in England right on schedule.

New Election Board at St. Louis

JEFFERSON CITY, July 20—(AP)—Gov. Forrest Smith appointed a new St. Louis County board of election commissioners Tuesday an dsaid he expected no trouble getting them confirmed by the state senate.

The new board.

John E. Mooney, Democrat and chairman, 130 S. Price Road, Ladue.

George F. Heege, Republican and secretary, 239 Way Street, Kirkwood.

Lynn Meyer, Democrat, 24A Meremec, Clayton.

Edward E. Heil, Republican, 3909 Lackland Street, Overland.

Mooney, Heege and Meyer are lawyers. Heil is a grocer. All live in the district of Sen. Hartwell G. Crain (R) and the governor said he though they would be satisfactory to Crain and Sen. John D. Fels (R), the other St. Louis County senator.

They succeed John Q. Brown and Gene G. Tighe, Democrats, and Elmer W. Held and Oscar Habenich, Republicans. Their terms expired yesterday.

The governor said the new board would take office as soon as the members are sworn in, perhaps tomorrow. Their appointments will be before the senate for confirmation when it comes back to work next October.

Fenenga Back to High School Job

ST. LOUIS, July 20—(AP)—Bert E. Fenenga, superintendent of the State Training School for Boys at Boonville, will be reinstated in a high school teaching job here in September.

This disclosure was made Tuesday by P. J. Hickey, city superintendent of public school instruction.

Hickey said Fenenga's exact assignment will not be determined until next month, but that it is customary to return a teacher to his former position.

Fenenga was teaching at Cleveland high school when he was appointed a year ago to the superintendency of the Boonville institution.

It was reported last week in Jefferson City that Fenenga was being replaced at Boonville. At present he is on a paid leave of absence from the institution.

Hickey said Fenenga had asked to return to his old job here.

Exhibit of War Relics

A traveling exhibit of captured war relics, attached to a truck parked at Third street and Ohio avenue, is being viewed by Sedalians as they pass by on the sidewalks and streets.

The exhibit is being sponsored by the local Veterans of Foreign Wars, and is conducted by J. H. Russell, who worked Sedalia last year with a similar exhibit. The proceeds taken from the exhibit is to be used for relief purposes for veterans and their families.

Included in the exhibit are Japanese and German war equipment, such as guns, cannons, machine guns, swords and pictures pertaining to the brutality of the war. Tojo is pictured after he shot himself, Tokyo Rose and the signing of the treaty on board the U. S. S. Missouri, etc.

The exhibit will be in Sedalia until Wednesday night, then will be moved to Jefferson City for a few days. The traveling exhibit has covered nearly every city in the United States.

WHOOSH! THE SMOOTH WAY TO DINNER—Living in a two-flat home in Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Van Der Bosche and their nine children, ranging from 7 to 25 years old, had a problem. Mom was always complaining that it took too long for the gang to reach the table after she rang the dinner bell. But 9-year-old Casey came up with an idea that solved the problem. He watched firemen sliding down the pole in the neighborhood fire station and decided that was what they needed at home. Now the dinner bell is followed by nine "whooshs"—and soup's on.

ARMY GETS A LIFT—Not having learned all the tricks of the stevedoring trade in a few days, this soldier, left, was lifted off his feet when he forgot to let go of a crane hook while handling cargo from ships at a strike-bound dock in London.

Club Plans For Annual Picnic

The Neighborly Neighbors extension club met in July at the home of Mrs. Charles Singer. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Tom Conaway, and opened with the devotional, the Twenty-ninth Psalm being given by Catherine Scott. There was a report by Mrs. T. J. Raines on the points brought up at the recent council meeting. A display for Achievement Day was decided on, and plans made for the annual August picnic. Sylvia Harper gave her 4-H demonstration of making biscuit mix. Following adjournment, the hostess opened her gifts, and then refreshments of sandwiches, cookies and tea were served.

Before leaving, the guests joined in singing the club song, "Song of Peace," accompanied by Mrs. John Greer, who also played "Follow the Gleam."

Five guests, Mrs. John Greer, Mrs. J. D. Nichols, Mrs. Maude Younger, Mrs. Franklin Younger and Miss Sylvia Harper, were present.

The next meeting, the annual picnic, will be held at the home of Mrs. Myron C. Harper the night of Aug. 11.

Decision Near as To Referendum

JEFFERSON CITY, July 20—(AP)—The Missouri Bus and Truck Association will decide in the next few days whether to participate in a referendum test of a state gasoline increase.

The organization's board of directors discussed Gov. Forrest Smith's road program bill at a meeting here Tuesday. But Ursel Lewellen, executive secretary said about 20 directors decided to poll the other board members before reaching a decision.

The measure, now ready for the governor's signature, would double Missouri's gas tax of two cents a gallon, setting aside one cent of the increase to build low type rural roads.

Bus and truck operators have been among those opposing the tax hike. Others include the Missouri Automobile Club, the Missouri Petroleum Industry Committee and public transit firms.

Lewellen said only two-thirds of the directors were on hand to day.

"We decided it was of such importance we would personally contact all other board members and make our announcement within a few days."

Governor Smith met with some directors of the organization yesterday. He said then he hoped the group would not participate in a move to refer the bill to the people by a referendum petition.

If a petition of some 55,000 Missourians is filed with the Secretary of State by Oct. 13, the road bill could not become effective unless voters approved it in the November, 1950, general election.

Directors of the petroleum industrys committee plan a meeting in St. Louis July 26 to discuss whether to participate in a referendum.

The Missouri Automobile Club, meanwhile, is reported near a decision on its position.

It is now estimated that there are about 11,000,000 Americans 65 years or older.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Want to Run a "Collective" Farm?

Was reading the other day about the "collective" farms they have in certain countries. It seems the folks who run them have plenty of help . . . good hours . . . and the best equipment.

Sounds pretty nice—till you learn that the "farmer" doesn't own his land, or even farm it, in our sense. He takes orders from the state; produces what they want, at prices they set. Even his off-hours are spent according to state regulations.

That wouldn't go here. We're proud of our farms . . . but prouder still of the right to make our own rules. That goes not just for farmers, but for every American industry. Like the brewers' program of Self-Regulation which sees to it that taverns selling beer are decent, law-abiding places.

From where I sit, we've gone a lot further in this country with self-regulation than other nations have with strict controls. Let's never change.

Committee Setback on Brannan Plan

Subsidy Program As Applicable to Hogs Rejected

By Francis M. LeMay

WASHINGTON, July 20—(AP)—Skeptical lawmakers put a blight on the Brannan farm plan Tuesday and it appeared to be in danger of withering on the vine.

A Senate agriculture sub-committee rejected a bill that would have empowered Secretary of Agriculture Brannan to try out his subsidy program on hogs.

While this setback was not decisive, it appeared to symbolize the strong congressional opposition to the administration plan. One Democratic senator close to the White House confided in reporters: "There won't be any trial run of the Brannan plan."

The plan would let market prices of perishable crops drop to their natural level. Then the government would pay subsidies to farmers to keep their income up to a certain level. These subsidies would eventually be paid by taxpayers.

Differs From Present Plan

The plan contrasts with the present system, under which the government supports the market price by buying up surplusses and removing them from the market. In doing this, the government prevents a depression in prices which the surplus otherwise would create.

The senators' rejection of the subsidy plan for hogs, coupled with other Capitol Hill developments, pointed to a possibility that the fight over future farm legislation may narrow down to a contest between (1) the present high 90 percent of parity wartime price support and (2) the so-called Aiken law allowing supports for major products to be set as low as 60 percent of parity.

(Parity is a price calculated to give a farmer the same purchasing power he had in a past, favorable period.)

In the House a coalition of Democrats and Republicans rejected a Brannan plan compromise proposal and decided on an all out fight to extend the present program another year. This coalition dislikes both the Brannan plan and the Aiken law. The latter legislation is scheduled to go into effect next Jan. 1.

Meanwhile John W. Flannagan, Jr., of Virginia, retired House Democratic farm leader in the last Roosevelt administration, has wired Rep. Gore (D-Tenn) praising him for "the gallant fgiht you are putting up to keep the American farmer from becoming a charity patient in the government hospital."

Gore, usually an administration supporter but now leading the fight on its farm bill, predicted the House will approve his substitute bill continuing the present farm program.

Opening of the House debate on the farm bill was postponed until tomorrow, when the House adjourned out of respect to Supreme Court Justice Murphy who died in Detroit early today.

Sedalian Enjoyed Vacation by Going Back to Home Town

"Fun on my vacation! I should say I did have fun," said a man who had just spent two weeks in the small town where he was born. I thought I wouldn't know anybody there any more, but I saw more old friends. There was a picnic every other day, I think. First one little church and then another and I went to them all."

"One of my favorite spots in childhood was a valley about as wide as a highway between two high hills. My, those hills looked high to me."

"They don't look so high now?" someone asked.

"Oh, yes, indeed," he answered. "They look just as high as ever."

Roaming over the country that had been his kingdom as a child he vividly relived the happy times he had had in his boyhood. The people that he had grown up with who were still living there helped him to recall many things, some of which he had forgotten.

A Reminder

There was one little incident that he was reminded of that he had not forgotten.

A woman came up to him with a smile and said: "Do you remember the little silk handkerchief you gave me?"

"I certainly do," he replied with a broad grin. "That is one thing I will never forget."

The little silk handkerchief had been given to his sister by her boy friend, he said. It was quite the thing those days for girls to wear silk handkerchiefs stuck in the pockets of their dresses. He was just a little shaver and that silk handkerchief really struck his fancy—in fact so much so that he swiped it to give to a pretty little girl at school he was very fond of.

Back Went the Handkerchief

The little girl was delighted. She took it proudly home and showed it to her mother and father. But her parents felt that there must be something wrong somewhere. That was too nice a gift for such a little boy to be giving to such a little girl, so they investigated. They asked his mother and father and found that the hankie really was a treasured possession of big sister.

"My, how I did hate to part with that handkerchief," she told him.

"Did she still look good to you?" he was asked.

"She sure did," he answered, "She is married and has a family, but she looked mighty good to me—and everybody else down there did, too."

Well, everybody has their own opinion of a good vacation. It might mean a going to some lake fishing; it might mean a few weeks in some city or at the beach or a dude ranch it might mean a trip abroad into interesting and different countries—but to the person who hasn't been back where he was reared for a number of years—the paradise for a real vacation is the old home town.

SHE'LL STAY UP TILL RENTS COME DOWN—Mrs. Arthur Ellis kisses her daughter Sharon, 4, and husband goodbye, at right, before starting aloft to her perch 50 feet above the ground. The family's been looking for an apartment and says Mrs. Ellis, this is as good a way as any to find one. She hopes the six-foot-square platform, at right, will solve the problem by persuading some good Samaritan to offer them a reasonably priced apartment. Ellis is now trying to persuade his wife to come down again, but she says she'll stay up till rents come down.

Sedalia A's Meet Maytags In Jeff City

Athletics Play Second Round in Tourney 9:30 p.m.

The Sedalia Athletics will be gunning for top prize money of $1,000 offered in the Missouri semi-pro baseball tournament held in Jefferson City when they meet the Columbia Maytags at 9:30 o'clock tonight.

The Athletics lost their first round play with the Jefferson City Eagles, Monday night by a score of 4-2, when a long homer put the game on ice for the colored team.

The tournament is a two-game elimination affair, and if the Athletics lose tonight's contest they would automatically be eliminated. Should the team overcome the Columbians, they would still play in the lower bracket, until they won another game, thus moving into the upper bracket.

The team that comes out on top will be awarded $1,000 being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce in Jefferson City. Second, third and fourth winners will get a percentage from gate receipts.

Sedalians Attend

A large delegation from Sedalia attended the game Monday night, and another large crowd is expected to be on hand tonight. The local team will leave from the Plamor Recreation, 207 West Main street this evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Manager Vincent Siegel will use Walker, Hall or Wilson on the Hill with either Meyers or MacMackin behind the plate. The Maytags lost their round of play when the Marshall Redbirds downed them to the tune of 9 to 1.

Vienna eliminated Tebbetts from the Missouri tourney with a 6-5 defeat Tuesday night. Vienna's runs came in the seventh inning on three hits and three errors.

Versailles nosed out the Jeff City Eagles 11-10 in ten innings, after tying the score with five runs in the last of the ninth.

California will meet the Jefferson City Tweedies in a first round game at 7:30 o'clock tonight.

Toppers to Play At Park Tonite

The Sedalia Toppers girls softball team will play their first home night game tonight at 8:15 o'clock at Liberty park, when they meet the strong Emma, Mo., team. The Toppers are in good shape for tonight's contest, following their regular Tuesday evening workout.

Emma is the only team that has beaten Sedalia in eight games, when the locals lost 6 to 1 to that team earlier in the season. The Toppers have come out on top in the other seven contests, and will be gunning for their eighth win tonight.

Although manager John Sole will not announce the starting lineup until game time, the following will be available for duty: Walz, pitcher and outfielder; Sole, catcher; Beucke, Shanahan, Bellis, and Closser, infield; Olson, Koeller, Ream, Balke, England, and Alexander, outfield; Clifford, infield and outfield; and Merrill, pitcher. Coaches Duane Beucke and Lee Traner will assist manager Sole in selecting the starters.

Earl Spieler will call balls and strikes, with Elwood Simon umpiring bases. The game will be broadcast over the loud speaker, with Jimmie Glenn doing the calling.

There will be no admission charge for the game, but a good will offering will be taken up during the evening.

Jack Dempsey Will Officiate Title Bout

LOS ANGELES, July 20—(AP)—There will be an all-championship hue to the 15-round title match tomorrow night at Wrigley Field between Ike Williams, king of the world's lightweights and challenger Enrique Dolanos of Mexico.

There's champion Ike, and Bolanos, who hopes to be champion and the third man in the ring will be Jack Dempsey, one time kingpin of the heavyweights.

Dempsey was named when the California athletic commission got together via long range telephone and approved his selection. It will be the first major bout the old champ has worked out here.

Dempsey will referee for free, waiving his customary fee in behalf of the Lou Costello Youth Foundation, the poor boys' recreation center for which the fight is being staged.

Junior Legion Beats Lebanon By 17 to 10

Wild and Ragged Played Contest to The Sedalians

The Sedalia Junior Legion Post 16 team took a wild and loosely played game from the Lebanon Junior Legion, Tuesday night at Liberty park, by a final tally of 17 to 10. This was the rubber game of a three-game practice series with Lebanon, each team having taken one contest previously.

The game was a good contest going into the seventh inning, with the Sedalia aggregation leading 3 to 2. However, the seventh inning carried a charm for the number seven, with each team collecting that many runs in that frame. The Sedalia boys put the game on ice, again scoring seven runs, in the eighth inning.

Brown Started

Brown started on the hill for Sedalia, but was relieved in the third by Walker, who in turn bowed to Schulz in the seventh. Neidholt was the Sedalia catcher. Sanders, the Lebanon starter, was relieved by Schoonamaker, the first baseman, but later resumed mound duties, having remained in the game. Benage was behind the plate for the visitors.

The feature blows of the game were home runs. Schoonamaker hit one over the left field fence for the visitors in the seventh inning with two men on, and Walker hit one inside the park in the eighth with one on for Sedalia.

Ruffin and Shawver led the Sedalia hitters with two for four each, and Shultz and McCrary had one for one apiece. Sedalia collected a total of 12 hits against ten for Lebanon.

All the players on the Sedalia team took advantage of the practice game in training to switch positions and prepare for other situations that may arise in zone tournament, which the Legion will enter Friday at Kirksville.

The score by innings:

Results of Western Assn.

By the Associated Press

Strong armed Ray Peterson and the seventh-place Hutchinson Elks spoiled Fort Smith's chances of gaining on the Western Association's leading St. Joseph Cardinals last night.

Peterson came up with a 1-hit masterpiece as Hutchinson whipped the Giants 6 to 1 at Hutchinson. The Giants' run was unearned.

The St. Joseph Cards maintained an eight-game lead over Fort Smith although losing to the Topeka Owls, 2-1 at home. Dick (Chief) Pahmahmie scattered 8 card hits in gaining his third victory over the leaders.

Muskogee took advantage of Fort Smith's misfortunes and moved into a second place tie with the Giants by shutting out Salina 6-0 behind Ed Carl's 3-hit pitching.

It was the same sad story for Leavenworth, the Braves running their current losing streak to 23 games in bowing to Joplin, 8-3. The new string of defeats broke the 22-game losing row of the Braves at the start of the season.

Leavenworth outhit Joplin 11 to 10, but home runs by Warren Moore and Casey Darrah, both of Joplin, proved the difference. Dick Carr cracked a four bagger for Leavenworth.

The third games in the four-game series is scheduled for the same parks tonight. Topeka will be at St. Joseph, Fort Smith at Hutchinson, Joplin at Leavenworth and Muskogee at Salina.

Lesnevich Trains For NBA Crown

He Will Meet Charles Aug. 10 At Yankee Stadium

SUMMIT, N. J., July 20—(AP)—Better late than never. That's Gus Lesnevich's motto as he prepares for a delayed shot at the world heavyweight championship—NBA version.

Durable Gus, now 34, started training yesterday for his Aug. 10 Yankee stadium date with Ezzard Charles, the NBA king from Cincinnati.

"Fighting for the heavyweight title is the dream of all fighters," he said, as might be expected, "I was all set to fight Joe Louis last year until that Mills thing happened."

"That Mills thing" was a 15-round bout at London last July in which Gus lost his world light heavyweight crown.

"It was tough to lose the big shot with Louis," he said, "especially when you think you won 12 of the 15 rounds. But that's the breaks."

Worth Fighting For

Back home at Cliffside Park, N. J., Gus has four most important reasons for wanting to win the title. They are Gus, Jr., age 6½, Gerry, age 2½ and twin girls who were born a little over a year ago.

A Cincinnati promoter claims to have a contract by which Gus agreed to fight Maxim again at Cincinnati September 19 and agreed to take no bouts before that date. The NBA now threatens to suspend him in 47 states if he goes through with the Yankee Stadium bout. Gus definitely expects to fight Charles, come what may.

Millers-Brews Split Twin Bill

By The Associated Press

Strapping, 22-year-old Jack Harshman, who got his baseball start in the American Legion at San Diego, Calif., has regained the American Association run-batted-in lead.

In a feud for the honor with Milwaukee's Howie Moss, the Minneapolis first sacker belted two homers last night as the Millers and Brews split a twin bill.

Harshman, being groomed eventually to take over first baseman Johnny Mize's spot in the New York Giants lineup, drove in three runs during the doubleheader to boost his RBI tally to 89. Moss has 88. Harshman also boosted his homer output to 33.

The Millers took the seven-inning opener, 8-4, while Milwaukee captured the nightcap, 7-5, with a four-run rally in the fourth.

Race For Batting Honors

While the race for individual batting honors is keeping tempo with the flag chase itself, St. Paul maintained a one-game edge in the lead by shading Kansas City, 6-4. The Saints, held to three hits by Frank Hiller, exploded for five runs in the ninth featuring Dan Ozark's triple.

Second-place Indianapolis kept stride by downing Toledo, 5-1, with a 14-hit assault.

Louisville nudged into sixth place with a 6-3 decision over Columbus behind Jack Griffore's six hitter.

Tonight's schedule:

Toledo at Indianapolis
Columbus at Louisville
St. Paul at Milwaukee
Minneapolis at Kansas City.

Mrs. Broz Led Golfers Into the Second Round Women's Tourney

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 20—(AP)—Mrs. Betty Broz of St. Louis, the defending champion, led the eight surviving golfers into the second round of the Missouri Women's golf tournament today.

Mrs. Broz disposed of Louise Allen, Kansas City, 7 and 6 yesterday and was matched today against Mrs. Sayle Benson, of Springfield. Mrs. Benson beat Peggy Martenbach, St. Louis, 1-up yesterday.

Other pairings for today were: Mrs. Chester Keating, St. Joseph vs. Marian Gault, Kansas City; Barbara Goode, St. Louis vs. Mrs. Ray Schwartz, St. Louis; and Marilyn Herpel, St. Louis vs. Mrs. John Wilkin, Kansas City.

ALL SIZES—Dominic, left, of the Red Sox and the Yankees' Joe DiMaggio are rarely together, but play baseball the same way.

B-J Chiefs Overpowered Boonville 10-5

Ralph Waters Hit Homer in Seventh With Bases Loaded

In a loosely, yet well played game, the Sedalia Chiefs defeated Boonville Lions 10 to 5 in a Ban Johnson League game there Tuesday night, running the Chief's record to four wins in five games for the second half of the season.

The victory was contributed to the four hit, 11 strikeout hurling of the Chiefs' ace-righthander, Joe Imhauser and the timely hitting of his teammates.

Sedalia trailed 4 to 1 going into the seventh, when Ralph Waters clouted a grand slamer over the left field fence, and from then on the Sedalia Chiefs scored at will for the remainder of the game.

Loaded Bases

Adams, who loaded the bases for Waters was relieved by Jewett in the top of the eighth.

Billy Whitworth, catcher of the Chiefs, caught an excellent game, and increased his batting average by collecting three timely hits.

Thursday night, under the lights of Liberty Park at 8:15 o'clock the Chiefs will play host to a strong semi-pro club of Eldon in a non-league game. May and White will work their first battery for the local team.

Sunday night at 8:15 o'clock at Liberty Park, the Chiefs will play a regular scheduled game with the Jefferson City Stags. Joe Imhauser is slated to work the mound for Sedalia.

The leading Moberly B-J team is scheduled to play in Sedalia on the night of July 28, which contest may be the deciding blow in the second half of the league standing.

Baseball Experts Are Ready With Routine 'I Told You So'

By Joe Reichler
Associated Press Sports Writer

Is this the start of that long-awaited New York Yankee collapse?

Baseball experts, who vowed the Yankees would finish no higher than fourth this year, wore that old wise look today. A good many of them were ready to give you that "I told you so" routine.

And they may have something there. For the Bronx Bombers of late have looked like anything but the league leaders they are.

In losing yesterday, 5-4, to Cleveland the Yanks extended their losing skein to three in a row. They now have dropped four of their last five games, three of them to second division clubs. Whereas they once boasted an eight-game margin, their lead has shrunk to three and a half games over the advancing Indians.

Supposedly A Tight Struggle

Why, the Brooklyn Dodgers own the same lead in the National League—three and a half games over the St. Louis Cardinals. And that was supposed to be a tense, tight struggle.

The Tribe battery of pitcher Bob Lemon and catcher Jim Hegan was responsible for the Yankees' most recent defeat. Lemon not only whipped the Yankees for the third time this year in racking up his 11th triumph, but hammered his fourth home run, with Hegan on base. Hegan broke up the game in the last of the ninth with a home run.

The Boston Red Sox climbed back into third place, seven and a half games off the pace, defeating the Chicago White Sox, 6-4. Vern Stephens' two-run single highlighted the Red Sox three-run ninth inning that kayoed starter Marino Pieretti. Ellis Kinder allowed eight hits to register his 10th triumph.

Tigers Nosed Out Senators

The Tigers blew a 6-0 lead behind Hal Newhouser, but bounced back to eke out a 7-6 triumph over the Washington Senators. Three successive eighth inning walks plus a long fly by Johnny Lipon brought in the winning run. Virgil Trucks, who relieved Newhouser after the Nats had blasted the lefthander for five runs in the sixth, was credited with his 12th victory.

Four home runs helped the St. Louis Browns sweep a twilight night doubleheader from the Philadelphia Athletics, 9-4 and 5-4. It was the Browns' fifth straight victory. Jack Graham and Sherm Lollar hit four baggers in the first game, and Gerry Priddy and Dick Kokos slammed circuit clouts in the second. Bob Dillinger was the chief gun in the Brownie attack, turning in six consecutive hits—three singles and a triple in the opener.

Dodgers Edged Out Pirates

The Dodgers picked up a full game on the Cardinals, edging out the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3, while the Boston Braves knocked off the Redbirds, 5-2. Bruce Edwards singled with the bases loaded and none out in the ninth to snap a 3-3 tie and give the Brooks the decision.

Southpaw Warren Spahn posted his 11th triumph, limiting the Cardinals to six hits as the braves batted Max Lanier out of the box in the fourth. Elbie Fletcher socked a three-run homer off the Card southpaw in the third.

Scoring at least once in every inning, the New York Giants battered three Cincinnati hurlers for 20 hits including three homers to humble the Reds, 13-3. Hank Thompson, Johnny Mize and Marshall contributed home runs.

Lefty Ken Heintzelman pitched another masterpiece as the Philadelphia Phils nipped the Chicago Cubs, 1-0. Heintzelman scattered nine hits for his 12th victory.

A Tight Race In KOM League

By the Associated Press

The K-O-M baseball flag chase continued tight as a miser's pocketbook today with only 6 games separating the leading Independence Yankees and sixth place Chanute.

The Yankees, who have been hot as the weather the past week, had some of their steam let off at home last night by losing to first game of a double header on a 9-7 count to Miami. They bounced back, however, to win the nightcap 6-3 and maintain their three-game lead over Iola.

Iola defeated Bartlesville 5-2 in the first game of a doubleheader, but bowed in the second tilt, 8-3. Joe Malott, making his first professional start, pitched a six-hitter for the Indians in losing.

Chanute beat third place Carthage, 2-1, in the best played game of the night as Pete Newbested George Erath in a pitching duel. New singled in the wining run in the seventh. Each hurler gave 5 hits.

Ponca City's Dodgers made it two in a row over Pittsburg, 11-0 at Pittsburgh. The Dodgers shelled three Brownie pitchers for 13 hits in winning such as they pleased.

The current series ends at each of the parks tonight. Miami will play at Independence, Iola at Bartlesville, Carthage at Chanute and Ponca City at Pittsburg.

Cards Slipped A Notch in The Nationals

Boston Beat Them 5 to 2 Tuesday Night

By The Associated Press

The Cardinalss lipped another notch last night in their losing struggle for the top of the National League. Boston beat them 5 to 2 after Brooklyn nailed Pittsburgh 4 to 3 in the afternoon.

So now the Cards are three and a half games behind the Dodgers and only two and a half ahead of the Braves, whom they meet again tonight.

For home town pride, St. Louis fans could concentrate on the Browns, who took a twilight-night doubleheader from Philadelphia last night, 9-4 and 5-4, for their fifth straight victory.

The Story at Boston

The story at Boston was that Warren Spahn was right and Max Lanier was not. It was Spahn's 11th victory against eight losses, and it was the reinstated Lanier's second defeat, period. Spahn was touched for six hits, including a ninth-inning home run by Stan Musial.

Lanier was knocked out of the box in the fourth inning, when the Braves scored twice after getting to him for three runs in the third. Boston's first baseman Elbie Fletcher started the damage when he hit a home run with two mates aboard.

Cardinals Lost 4 out of 6

The Cardinals now have lost four out of the last six games, and seven of 15 on this trip after winning six of the first nine.

Connie Mack's Athletics came to St. Louis in a horrible slump and stayed in it. They have won only two out of the last 11.

It was fine relief pitching that turned the tricks for the Browns. In the first game Bill Kennedy went to the rescue of Ned Garver and was saved in turn by Joe Ostrowski. In the second game Karl Drews couldn't make the grade and Ostrowski gave him a lift. Then Ostrowski's arm got sore in the eighth inning and Red Embree brought the Brownies in.

The St. Louis men were long on home runs. Jack Graham got his 17th and Sherman Lollar his fifth in the opener, and in the second game Gerry Priddy belted his eighth and Dick Kokos his 18th.

BAYTOWN, Tex. — Big Tom Stolhandske, Baytown high school's mighty fullback, has picked his college.

Stolhandske, called "the Big Swede," was one of the most widely sought schoolboy athletes in Texas. Fourteen major colleges offered him a scholarship. Coaches camped on his door step. One out-of-state scout called Tom at 2:30 a. m. and two days later was at the Stolhandske home before breakfast.

On another occasion, one head coach and assistants were at the Stolhandske home. One of them made a freezer of ice cream. As it was finished, another scout from a rival school walked in. So the first group served him ice cream, too, but with glances as cold as the dessert.

Now Stolhandske has picked the University of Texas where he will play football and basketball.

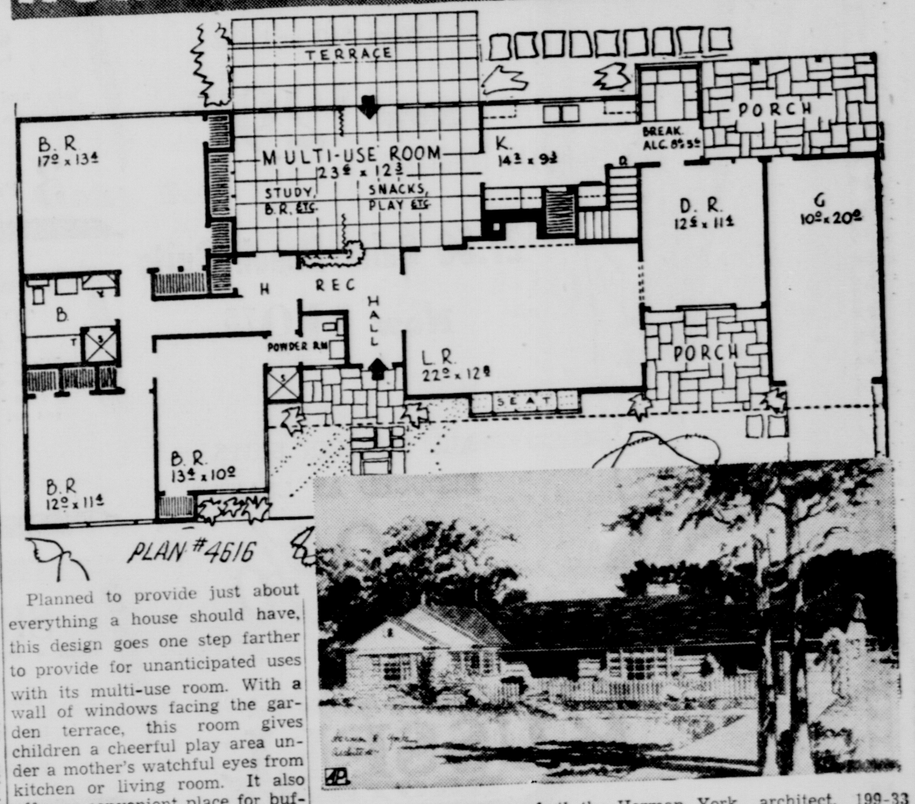
HOMES FOR AMERICANS



Planned to provide just about everything a house should have, this design goes one step farther to provide for unanticipated uses with its multi-use room. With a wall of windows facing the garden terrace, this room gives children a cheerful play area under a mother's watchful eyes from kitchen or living room. It also offers a convenient place for buffets or rumpus.

An accordian type, sound-deadening folding partition can divide the room to create a study or extra bedroom. Another feature of this plan is the dining room with window doors opening on both the front and rear porches. The rear porch provides a secluded place for out-door dining as well as a covered passage from garden to kitchen. This is plan No. 4616 by Herman York, architect, 199-33 Keno Ave., Hollis 7, N. Y. It covers 1,954 square feet, exclusive of garage and porches—a figure that can be used for local estimates.

Union Meet Breaks Up in Rough Riot

Rep. Irving Tried To Deny Charges Funds Misused

KANSAS CITY, July 20—(AP)—A Hod Carriers' union broke up in a riot Tuesday night as the union president Rep. Leonard Irving tried to deny charges that he and other officials had misused union funds.

Fifteen police cars raced to the union headquarters to quell fighting that broke out among the members. Two windows of the hall were smashed.

Irving, Democratic congressman from President Truman's home district, said after the fight that at least five men were treated for glass cuts.

The crowd of 500 men swarmed down the stairs from the second-floor hadd and fighting broke out anew on the lawn.

The Congressman, serving his first term, is president and business agent of the Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers local union, which has 1,800 members.

Eighty-five of the members filed a petition in circuit court Saturday demanding an accounting of union funds, alleging that Irving and two other officials had diverted union money to their own use.

Irving arrived by plane from Washington last night and announced that the union members would be told some things in a meeting tonight.

He said all but three of those signing the petition were Negroes and indicated the trouble may have arisen over the removal of a Negro union member as janitor at the union hall.

Did Not Give Reason

"We did not make public the reason for this move," Irving said. "But the membership certainly will be told the reason at the meeting."

Concerning charges that the membership had not been kept informed on union finances, the Congressman said:

"The secretary reads a financial report at every meeting. Every three months a Certified Public Accountant's audit is read to the membership."

Roy E. Livingston, treasurer and financial secretary, and Alvin Butcher, corresponding and recording secretary, were named with Irving as defendants in the court action.

Circuit Judge Thomas R. Hunt has issued an order for them to appear in court Thursday morning for a hearing on an injunction restraining them from spending union money except for purposes specifically authorized by the union.

W. P. Kennedy to Head B. of R. T.

CLEVELAND, July 20—(AP)—William Parker Kennedy, 57, Canadian-born one-time brakeman, Tuesday night was named president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

The independent union's eight-man board of directors elevated Kennedy from the post of general secretary and treasurer.

He will serve until the Brotherhood's September, 1950, convention. Union sources expressed belief that he would be continued in office by the convention.

Kennedy immediately pledged a militant administration, based on the same principles as those of A. F. Whitney, who died Saturday after 21 years as the trainmen's leader.

ST. LOUIS, July 20—(AP)—Arthur L. Jackson of St. Louis, assistant passenger traffic manager of the Gulf, Mobile and Ohio railroad, died here Tuesday of a heart ailment. He was 53 years old.

Friends said Jackson suffered a heart attack about two years ago. He went to St. John's hospital here last Monday for observation and suffered a fatal attack early this morning.

Surviving are his widow, Marie, four daughters and a son, all of St. Louis.

Funeral services will be held here on Friday.

Jackson started his career as an office boy with the old Alton railroad in 1910. In 1933 he was named traveling passenger agent of the G. M. & P., with offices in Little Rock, Ark.

After 10 years there he was sent to Chicago as the line's general passenger agent. He took over as assistant passenger traffic manager in 1947.

Issue on U. S. Sending Arms

Treaty Advocates Want it Free of Reservations

By D. Harold Oliver

WASHINGTON, July 20—(AP)—General critics of the North Atlantic pact consolidated their forces Tuesday behind a 38-word reservation specifying that ratification would carry no "legal or moral" commitment to supply arms to foreign nations.

This new threat to administration efforts to keep the treaty free of qualifications came as former secretary of state Henry L. Stimson appealed to senators to adopt the treaty as it.

"If this treaty is beaten, or if its great meaning is befogged by reservations seeming to proceed from fear, we shall not soon be able to repair the damage." Stimson said in telegrams to senators Ives and Dulles, New York Republicans.

The senate, due to vote on the pact and all reservations Thursday, prepared to debate the security treaty for the eleventh day today, but an early recess was taken in memory of Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy who died early today in Detroit.

Off the floor, Senator Taft (R.-Ohio) led the latest move to close opposition ranks behind the no-arms-for-Europe reservation. He, and Senator Watkins (R.-Utah) and Wherry (R.-Neb.), drew up the new reservation, which says:

"Nothing contained in article three creates a legal or moral obligation on the part of the United States to furnish arms, armaments, military, naval or air equipment or supplies to any other party or parties to said treaty."

Article three says:

"In order more effectively to achieve the objectives of this treaty, the parties, separately and jointly, by means of continuous and effective self-help and mutual aid, will maintain and develop their individual and collective capacity to resist armed attack."

Children Taken From Mother

MIAMI, Okla., July 20—(AP)—A 30-year-old mother charged in the brutal beating of a tiny daughter who died, fainted Tuesday after hearing a judge order her three other children taken from her.

The mother, Mrs. Evelyn Robinett of Picher, will be tried at a fall term of district court for assault with intent to do bodily harm. Meanwhile, county Judge Willis D. Smith ordered the Robinett children, ranging in age from one to five years, be made temporary wards of the state.

They were described by Prosecutor Charles F. Burns as "delinquent and neglected."

Mrs. Robinett's husband, Amos, 38, recently received a five-year prison sentence after pleading guilty to the same charge filed in connection with the death April 4 of Mary Louise Robinett, 2.

The child died from injuries her parents attributed to a fall from a coal bin. Burns said, however, her body was "a mass of bruises" and her injuries indicated she had been beaten.

Backyard is a Girl Preacher's Pulpit

Linda, 11, Holds Weekly Bible Class For Neighborhood Youngsters

Congregation: "I just start talking and they keep quiet."

By NEA Service

CLEVELAND — At an age when most girls are busy playing with dolls, 11-year-old Linda Kassimatis spends her time playing preacher before a sun-suited "congregation."

Every Wednesday afternoon for an hour she gathers her flock of neighborhood youngsters in her backyard for a Bible class. More than 40 children usually attend.

With all the decorum of one dedicated to the church, she calmly leads them in hymns and tells Biblical stories.

"Linda's always played church. She'd get her dolls together and preach to them," said her mother.

"Most children don't go to story hour at church, so I just thought I'd start one here," Linda explained.

Her seriousness in leading her squirming audience never deserts her. Her answer to the discipline problem is, "I just start talking and they keep quiet."

It's not exactly that simple. A couple of the older children act as monitors and her parents stand by to shake a finger at the too active. Linda's father, a cook, is unemployed because of illness.

In front of her on a little bench she keeps her briefcase with the church papers, Bible and bookmarks with religious pictures or texts. She gives the bookmarks to members of the congregation for good attendance or for bringing new members.

Every service ends with the distribution of religious literature and a "treat," a cold drink and cookies. Linda's church and some of the neighbors help her with the expenses.

Linda: First it was dolls.

Hal Boyle Says

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK—(AP)—The monotony of modern life sometimes got Wilbur Peeble down.

He felt that way this morning when the alarm clock shrilled him awake. He glanced over at the other twin bed and half-heartedly hoped to see there something to surprise him—perhaps an elephant or a small shetland pony.

But, as usual, he looked only into the eyes of his wife, Trellis Mae, placidly waiting for him to turn off the alarm. Wilbur did.

"Animals don't have to wake up to an alarm clock," he said. "Why should men? The day I retire I am going to throw that darn thing right through the window."

Figured Moodily

But, he figured moodily, that would be 30 years from now, and who could say whether he or the alarm clock would wear out first? He got up to shave and soon noticed a thin streak of crimson on his cheek.

"There are probably 47,000,000 men shaving right at this minute," he thought, "and I have to be the one who cuts himself."

Driving to work Wilbur growled:

"Here I am, just one of maybe 20,000,000 jokers in a mortgaged motor car trying to beat the boss into the office, and there are probably 50,000 traffic cops hiding behind the bushes to catch us. Every day it's the same."

When he got to his desk, he looked around. There were at least 50 other desks exactly like his.

Could Put Gin In

"Everybody doing the same thing," Wilbur grumbled. He strolled over to the water cooler and filled a paper cup.

"Water," he said. "Wonder if there ever really was an office where they put gin in the water cooler?"

At 11:59 Wilbur bolted out the door, grabbed an elevator and managed to get to the drugstore in time to grab a counter seat.

"Malted milk anna ham san'ich," he mumbled. He looked at the man next to him, munching on a sandwich and drinking a malted milk. Wilbur looked the other way. The girl seated on that side was having a sandwich and a malted milk, too.

"Everybody even eats the same thing—and at the same time," Wilbur thought in desperation. When he was served, he said:

"Do you have any chopsticks? I always eat my sandwich with chopsticks."

Monotonous

"Ha, ha," laughed the soda jerk. "Thassa good one, Wilbur."

And so it went all day—monotony, monotony.

When Wilbur got home he was in a blue funk. He kissed his wife absent-mindedly. Then as he looked out at the 14-story apartment across the way he thought uneasily:

"I'll bet right now a husband on every floor just walked in and kissed his wife."

He turned to Trellis Mae and asked:

"Honey, why did you marry me anyway?"

"Why, because you were so different," she said.

"How do you mean?"

"Oh, I don't know. You were just different from the others."

"H-m-m-m," said Wilbur. He walked into the bathroom, closed the door and studied himself in the mirror. Yes, there were lines of honest character in the face that looked back at him.

Just Different

"I do look a little different," said Wilbur. "Women are really perceptive." He felt much better.

In the living room Trellis Mae mused to herself:

"I wonder why I really did marry the big ape. I guess it was because he looked so lonesome—like he needed to settle down and lead a nice calm life."

Then Wilbur came back in.

"Put on your glad rags, kid," he said. "Let's have dinner out and take in a show."

"People don't say things like 'glad rags' anymore," laughed his wife.

"I do," said Wilbur, "I'm different, kid."

Attorney General Tom Clark Is Given a 39-Page Build-up

By Peter Edson
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The Hon. Tom C. Clark, 49, of Dallas, Tex., completed his fourth year as attorney general of the United cious event, the Department of Justice put out a 39-page statement telling what a great man States the other day. To celebrate this auspi- Mr. Clark has been and is.

Not much attention was paid to this handout. Maybe it was the heat wave, which makes the reading of anything 39 pages long something of a chore. More's the pity. Because this is one of the biggest puff sheets ever put out on any government bureaucrat.

A few sample direct quotes will give you the drift:

"He is the 59th attorney general," the press release begins. One gathers that Mr. Clark must be the greatest one since the last one, anyway. That was Francis Biddle.

"During Mr. Clark's four years as attorney general, the scope of departmental activities and responsibilities has broadened considerably," the report continues.

"Under the direction of Attorney General Clark, from July 1, 1935, to May 31, 1949, more than 150,000 office cases or matters were handled by the criminal division. . . .

"Since Mr. Clark's induction into office, 2226 war frauds complaints have been received and 1506 investigations instituted. . . .

"At the instance of Attorney General Clark in 1947, a program aimed at conspiracies to maintain or increase prices in the food, clothing and housing fields was launched and is being aggressively continued. . . .

Lays Down Anti-Trust Law

"Since the passage of the Sherman Act in 1890, there have been 21 attorneys general and the average number of (anti-trust) cases filed by each has been 42. Since Attorney General Clark has been in office, 160 cases have been instituted. To date 986 cases have been filed. At the rate of anti-trust activity under the present program it is expected that the 1000th anti-trust case will be filed during Mr. Clark's tenure. . . .

"Under the direction of the attorney general the claims division has succeeded in defeating all attacks upon the constitutionality of the Renegotiation Act. . . .

"The attorney general's keen interest in veterans' affairs is reflected in the number of such cases handled by the department. . . .

"The admiralty and war shipping litigation carried on by the department during Mr. Clark's term as attorney general was largely concerned with war-related matters. . . .

"Since the cessation of hostilities, which occurred shortly after Mr. Clark's entry into office as attorney general, the type of land acquisition has changed from acquisitions primarily for defense purposes to acquisitions for dam and reservoir purposes. . . .

"Under Attorney General Clark's direction, the government's drive against tax evaders has reached unprecedented heights. . . .

FBI Record Cited

"The splendid record achieved by the Federal Bureau of Investigation throughout the war . . . is a source of deep pride, not only to Attorney General Clark, but to all citizens everywhere. . . .

"During the past four years the United States, through the attorney general and the Immigration and Naturalization Service, has welcomed for permanent residence 120,000 war brides, 73,000 displaced persons and 426,000 other immigrants.

"Among Mr. Clark's greatest contributions as attorney general has (sic) been his deep and personal interest in, and accomplishments with juveniles. . . .

"The Meritorious Good Time Law . . . has had Mr. Clark's full interest and support.

"Sixty-eight undesirables entered (the U. S.) between 1933 and 1945, and none has entered since Attorney Genral Clark assumd his post.

"In addition, the attorney general, under the provision of the executive order establishing the loyalty program, and after an exhaustive and thorough investigation, has listed a total of 159 organizations in the United States as coming within the purview of that order."

Well, there's a lot more to it than that, but these highlights should be enough. "Mr. Clark" by name, or "the attorney general" by title, are mentioned 55 times in the 39 pages. This leads somewhat naturally to the question, "What's he running for? The presidency?"

And, of course, there is the Supreme Court, now.

• So They Say

The (economic) situation as I see it shows no substantial cause for anxiety. The uneasiness that is going around is in the minds and the emotions of men and not in the basic facts of business or public finance.

—Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder.

Many sections of this vast nation now are uninhabited because of the absence of water and power. Atomic energy will not solve all, but it decidedly will lift such limitations of the past as proximity of coal and oil.

—Atomic physicist Robert F. Bacher.

I am very reluctantly . . . step by step, destroying myself so that this nation and the faith by which it lives may continue to exist. — Whitaker Chambers, after testifying in the Alger Hiss perjury trial.

Paul Hoffman Appealed In Private Letter Against $50,000,000 to Franco

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, July 20 — It hasn't been published, but ECA administrator Paul Hoffman has written a strong private letter to Senator Vandenberg, protesting the plan to award a special $50,000,000 gift to Spain.

This grant for the Spanish dictator, to be taken out of Marshall plan funds, was slipped into the ECA appropriations bill by Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada, Democrat, at the prompting of Catholic leaders. It has aroused vigorous opposition from Protestant churchmen because of their contention that Protestants in Spain are given only second-class citizenship, and that the same principle of religious discrimination exists in Spain against Protestants as exists in the Iron Curtain countries against Catholics.

Hoffman, in his letter to Senator Vandenberg, avoided religious references, but warned:

"Because no work has yet started on a recovery program for Spain, it would be most unwise to attempt to gear such a program immediately into the present European recovery program. It would also violate the principle of European initiative. Furthermore, it would create the most difficult political problems for us if we were to attempt to force the OEEC to admit Spain. Admission of new members should, it seems to me, be initiated in the OEEC itself."

No Spanish Plans

"Before granting or loaning Spain money," Hoffman continued, "we should first request that Spain herself develop a recovery program, just as we have insisted that the participating countries develop their recovery program. This program should then be studied, screened, and laid before the Congress as a separate project exactly as was done in the case of Korea. The Congress could then make its decision on a national and informed basis. Any other course would constitute reversion to a practice which in past years has proved wasteful."

Nevertheless the Senate appropriations committee granted Dictator Franco a $50,000,000 share in the Marshall plan, without even requiring him to tell how he was going to use the money — though this was demanded of all the other nations.

Note: In addition to church pressure, two Spanish diplomats worked secretly with Senator McCarran and Senator Dennis Chavez of New Mexico to put across the $50,000,000. They were: Ambassador-at-large Jose Felix de Lequerica, wartime ambassador to Vichy, who came to Washington several months ago for the official purpose of "inspecting the embassy" and has been here ever since; also counselor Pablo Merry Del Val, nephew of the late Cardinal Rafael Merry del Val.

Truman Cuts Hospital Beds

While President Truman is preaching federal spending, he is also practicing economy — in veterans' hospitals. He has ordered 16,000 beds cut out of 24 hospitals, even though Congress has already appropriated the money for these beds.

All the persuasion Senator Claude Pepper, Florida Democrat, could summon didn't change the president's mind on this the other day. Truman bluntly replied that he was standing on his original decision.

Pepper then pleaded with the president to take up each veterans' hospital individually, but he shook his head. He had acted upon the recommendation of the Veterans Administration, itself, he retorted.

"Won't you designate someone we can argue with on this?" begged Pepper.

"All right, argue with the Bureau of the Budget," Truman suggested brusquely.

Pepper acted as spokesman for two Veterans of Foreign Wars leaders who accompanied him to the White House. They were Lyall Beggs, commander, and Omar Ketchum, legislative chief, whose mission was to invite the president to attend the VFW national convention beginning August 22 in Miami.

Truman promised to make a "flying trip" to the convention if Congress didn't load his desk with too many last-minute bills. And, in passing, the president dropped a hint as to when Congress might adjourn.

Turning to Pepper, Truman remarked: "I don't think there is a ghost of a chance of you fellows getting out of here until Labor day."

Ketchum said he understood they were shootinging for August 20.

"I think they will get out around Labor day," Truman repeated.

Communism in Cuba — Ambassadors Robert Butler in Havana has warned the state department that the Communists are going to launch a tremendous anti-American campaign throughout Latin America this summer.

Butler learned from a Communist informant that this will be accompanied by a drive to seize control of the shipping unions. The drive will be master-minded from the Russian embassy in Havana — the center of all Communist activity in the western hemisphere.

House For $5,900 — Housing expediter Tighe Woods has quietly built two attractive, low-cost homes — just to prove it can be done. He worked out the plans with Richard Barr, a Chicago architect. Each home will sell, complete with electric utilities, for $5,900 — and still leave a fair profit. Ordinarily the same homes would sell at twice that price. Yet Woods figures the cost can be cut another $1,000 by mass-scale production.

Prickly Heat is Caused When Skin's Sweat Glands Overheat

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.
Written for NEA Service

In extremely hot and damp weather the skin often breaks out with prickly heat or a heat rash. Small pinhead sized red or pink swellings, sometimes blister-like, appear on the skin. It is caused by overheating the sweat glands which are located almost everywhere just below the surface of the skin. Occasionally there small red swellings of the skin come together and form large blisters.

In places where there is friction on the skin, such as under a belt or a wrist watch band, the skin is particularlyy likely to break out. This is probably because the band tends to prevent the free outflow of sweat. Other places on the body particularly likely to be affected are the back, and the sides of the abdomen.

Typical Symptoms

Prickling, burning sensations, and tingling are common. Itching is usually mild. When the blisters rupture, small crusts form on the skin. The affected skin usually feels warm and dry, especially after exercise. On these places the sweat glands are shut off and therefore there is an absence of sweating.

In northern areas prickly heat is generally little more than an annoyance. In tropical countries, however, severe inflammation of the deeper layers of the skin may be produced.

There is no great problem in diagnosis. Nearly everyone who has prickly heat knows what it comes from and knows that cooler weather or exposure to cooler air will bring about its cure. Even in serious cases avoidance of overheated and moist air is the best treatment. Various cooling and drying lotions and powders are helpful.

The condition is obviously not very serious, although it causes minor discomfort. Like most everything which can be easily avoided, prevention is more desirable than treatment.

Note: Dr. Jordan is unable to answer individuel question from readers. However, each day he will answer one of the most frequently asked questions in his column.

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS
By Edwin J. Jordan, M. D.

QUESTION: What are the chances of a woman with albumin in her urine for having a normal healthy baby?

ANSWER: It all depends on the source of the albumin. If it is caused from some serious disease of the kidneys, pregnacy is likely to be dangerous for both mother and child.

A Letter For Men to Read— Could it be From Your Wife?

Attention all husbands: This letter from one of my readers may have been written by the wife of one of you.

"If there is such a thing as loving a person too much, I do my husband. I try to please him in every way. There was a time when he did the same, but after eight years of marriage, of which four were spent in the service during the war, he takes me and everything else at home for granted.

"Outside of the home he is a polite gentleman, all smiles, but he seems to shed this when he comes home. He snaps at the children and doesn't take any time with them at all. I do all I can for them, but they need a father's love, play and talk some of each day.

"He finds fault with me, and apparently thinks earning a living is sign of love enough. But to me, home all day with the children, cooking, washing, ironing and performing the many other duties of a housewife and mother, it would make me much happier and secure and make me feel that it was all more worth while if he would be more pleasant and show me a little affection and understanding.

Gives In To Husband's Wishes

"There are lots of times when I would like to go places or do something else besides the regular grind here at home, but when he comes in all grouchy, I put away my wants and try to cater to his every wish.

"I would enjoy a meal out some time but he would rather eat at home, which is supposed to be a complaint, I guess.

"I hesitate to talk over problems that arise day by day for he isn't very interested and is likely to sulk if I don't pretend everything is perfect.

"Now, I am not perfect and I may be at fault as much as he is. But I have tried my best for I love my husband very much and we are still young and I'd give anything if we could be happier and have a deeper relationship and understanding in our home."

There's the letter, word for word. Could it have been written by your wife?"

It's illegal in Alabama to sprinkle salt on railroad tracks. That's a heck of a way to catch a train, anyway.

One of the wagons of the National Refining company was wrecked at Third street and Ohio avenue, causing a leakage of oil that ran from Third street to the alley north. One of the rear wheels of the wagon rolled off.

• Q's and A's

Q—Who was Paul Revere's companion on his famous ride?

A—William Dawes shared the perils of that famous ride but has received none of the glory.

Q—Is walking or running the best method of exercising a dog?

A—A dog gets more exercise when he is walking than when he is running. A dog's muscular development is such that at a fast trotting pace more muscles are used than in an easy running gait.

MRS. MALONE locked all the doors in the rear of the Dude Hamburger Ranch, and carrying her suitcases and her winter coat, entered the bar for a last look around.

The wall-clock above the counter said noon. The Los Angeles bus would be along in 20 minutes and would stop for her if she signaled.

She made certain that the hot plates and grills were properly greased to withstand the months of disuse ahead. She tested the locks on the cupboards and cabinets where the tableware and china were stored. Then she closed and barred the shutters, and went outside to wait.

It was a brilliant, clear day in mid-September. The desert no longer shimmied in the full summer heat, and the straight ribbon of road had lost its tar-pit look and was hard and blue under the cloudless sky.

Mrs. Malone was thinking. She had had a good season. Thousands of tourists, Los Angeles bound, had been attracted by the log cabin, the shady porch, the clean restrooms, and had stopped for sodas, hamburgers, coffee, candy bars and cigarets.

She watched the horizon for the bus and mentally recounted her profits. Plenty, she figured, to pay her share at her sister's for the winter.

A few cars passed, but for the most part it was very quiet, the wonderful quiet of the Mojave which takes hold of one like strange music. No matter how many people poured across it, the desert remained untouched, pristine.

• • •

MRS. MALONE loved and feared the silence. It healed her jangled nerves but deepened her loneliness. Her widow-loneliness. Only by keeping busy could she forget for even a moment the loss of her husband Joe. Wonderful, kind, lovable Joe.

She opened her purse to get her handkerchief, but when she looked up she saw something that dried the film of tears. At first she thought it must be a moving-and-storage van or perhaps a truck towing some kind of a house. Gleaming silver white in the sun, it approached from the west. . . .

This thing, whatever it was, now took on the appearance of an armored fortress. It approached swiftly and smoothly until Mrs. Malone was able to identify it as an enormous trailer pulled by a truck. A smaller trailer drawn by a car followed close behind. The "thing" had a tall, cleaving prow, like a ship. It seemed to be made entirely of chromium and was streamlined from bow to stern . . . a great boat-shaped cradle on wheels, glittering so that it hurt the eyes.

The whole caravan slowed up as it approached the log cabin, and directly in front of Mrs. Malone the driver of the leading truck brought the contraption to a stop.

"Hi, there," he called, leaning out of his cab, "is this a bus station?"

She said yes, it was, and that the Los Angeles bus was due any minute.

"Okay."

THE driver dismounted. He was tall, black-haired, and in his late forties. A handsome fellow, Mrs. Malone thought, but somehow unpleasant. Also his face seemed vaguely familiar.

Quick, catlike he walked back along the trailer and opened a door in its side. As he did so, steps reached out, unfolded, leaned down and touched the pavement. A young woman emerged from the interior of the great silver ark and hurried down the steps. Someone behind her handed out a suitcase and a patent leather hat-box. Silently the steps retracted. The door closed.

The young woman was pretty, in a faded-blonde way, but her expression was so anxious, so troubled, that she looked older than she probably was. The uniformed driver took the luggage and followed her as she hurried toward Mrs. Malone.

"Do you know when the next Los Angeles bus will come?" she asked breathlessly.

"In about five minutes," Mrs. Malone said.

"Thank goodness! Oh, thank goodness!"

"I'll wait," the driver said, putting the luggage down, "and make sure you get aboard."

"No. Please. I'll be all right. This lady here is all the company I need. You go right ahead."

"Mrs. Everson said to wait," the driver insisted. He sat on the cabin steps and lighted a cigaret.

Something in the way he flicked out the match and tossed it aside struck a bell in Mrs. Malone's memory. She certainly had seen him before. He wasn't young, but he was lithe and taut, with hazel eyes and teeth too bone-white to be his own . . . capped teeth . . . like the movie stars. That was it. She had seen him in the movies. Gable? No. But a little like him. The same general look, the same dents in his cheeks when he smiled.

HE smiled, now, catching her curious, puzzled glance.

"Don't try to guess," he said. "It was too long ago. You're not that old."

Unexpectedly, Mrs. Malone said: "I'm 38."

"You don't look it," he said.

He squinted up at the sign: "Dude Hamburger Ranch."

"Do you run this joint?"

"I did. I'm closing today for the winter."

"I'll bet you're a good cook," he said.

"Not bad, but nothing fancy. I like cooking, and that's what counts, I guess."

He nodded toward the spectacular trailer, which stood shimmering like a giant dragonfly in the sun.

"How'd you like to cook for her?" he asked.

"Who's her?"

"Mrs. Everson. She needs a cook and she'll pay big wages. . . ."

"Don't you do it!"

The young woman with the frightened eyes turned on Mrs. Malone with a sort of violence.

EARLY RUSH — "Read the sign, Bud," Lyman L. Frimodig, Michigan State athletic ticket sales manager, politely informs a diehard. The Notre Dame game, Nov. 5, was sold out as early as June 8, just eight days after the ducats were placed on sale. It was the first 1949 football sell-out in the country.

"LOADED"—Movie actress Vera Ralston sports a young fortune in jewels. The ear-rings, necklace and bracelets, from a Hollywood antique collection, are valued at $250,000. They are supposed to have been given to the Empress Josephine by Napoleon. The necklace alone contains 20 square-cut diamonds ranging in size from two to five carats each.

Dog Goes To Rescue

Alton, Ill.—(AP)—Mrs. Pauline Hoffman, her son Gerhardt and her dog Ponto were driving through Rock Spring Park.

Suddenly Ponto began a series of maneuvers that meant he wanted to get out. The car was stopped. Ponto bounced away, his ears tuned to faint cries in the distance.

Soon he ran back and, by sound and motion, indicated he wanted company on a return trip. The Hoffmans trailed him.

They found a small cocker spaniel trapped in a hole. The best guess was that he had squirmed in after a rabbit and the earth caved in on him. Only his nose and one paw were in sight. He was dug ont quickly while Ponto watched, head high and tail wagging.

Wrong Year—Wrong Ticket

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)— T. E. Rakestraw, Miami Policeman, has completed a mission that friends believe is deserving of some sort of medal. Rakestraw was sent to Atlanta, Ga., to pacify the tempers of some 40 Atlantans who had received notices from the Miami police department to "please remit $3" for trafic violations.

The hitch was that none of the Atlanta mortorists had been in Miami. Georgia licence tags expire in April. Miami police thought the 1948 tags were still in effect. The violaters were listed under 1949 numbers.

Tempers of the unjustly accused have been soothed, Rakestraw reports, and now he's after the real violaters.

Take 'Rip' Out of 'Van Winkle'

Royal Engineers sappers hoist a 2,500-pound German bomb from a pit dug around it in the crowded Grafton Way district of London. Undiscovered since the 1940 blitz, the sleeper was promptly dubbed "Rip Van Winkle" by the nickname-loving British press. A six-man crew, under the personal direction of Major F. S. Knight, defused the bomb in a tense 90-minute work session and the bomb removed. Half a square mile of the district had been roped off for a week and 2,000 persons, among them 427 patients in the nearby University hospital, were evacuated until the bomb could be removed. It was found by workmen digging foundation holes. (AP Wirephoto)

Helicopters and Parachutists Help Foresters Fight Fire With Flight

By Douglas Larsen
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The U. S. is prepared to meet this summer's forest fire threat through the air.

There are two aerial weapons against fires that blacken and destroy our forests — "smoke jumpers" and helicopters.

The U. S. Forest Service has been developing the technique of dropping men in parachutes to fight fires for 10 years. Its corps of 300 expertly trained men is always ready to be flown to practically any part of the country. They constitute one of the most efficient outfits of their kind in the world.

These smoke jumpers spearhead all of the paid and volunteer efforts which are marshalled when a big blaze is first discovered. Because the can reach the scene so swiftly, many times just a few of them can get a fire under control which otherwise would destroy millions of acres of valuable timber.

Although the work is extremely hazardous, the equipment which is now provided for them has kept injuries resulting from the drop itself almost negligible in the past two years. The actual fire fighting and the possibility of being surrounded by a wall of blazing trees are the dangerous elements of the game. Each man is heavily padded, wears steel leg guards, has his face protected with a heavy iron screen and his head covered with a tough helmet.

He carries with him specially-designed picks, shovels and axes, plus a quantity of explosives, first aid equipment and food.

The helicopter has come into use more recently, but it has many advantages in fighting forest fires. First, it serves as a sort of aerial command post for the person directing the activities. Hovering over the fire, he can see which way it is headed, where it is most dangerous and where a concentration of effort would be most effective.

It can also be used to get men and equipment from one spot to another quickly. Once a smoke-jumper has bailed out, he is committed to that particular spot regardless of whether the fire should become more serious in another spot. The helicopter can also evacuate men when a fire threatens to surround them, keep the fighters fed and supplied with equipment when they are in action and get them back to hospitals quickly when they are injured.

Although the Forest Service has had more than 700 hours of fire fighting experience with helicopters, it owns none. It has to charter them from private companies when they are needed. Usually, during a dry season, when there is an alert, the location of all helicopters in the area will be determined beforehand and they will be kept on a standby basis.

The bright spot in the forest fire picture for this summer is the giant snowfall which paralyzed the West and Midwest last winter. Fortunately — for the flood threat as well as the fire hazard — the snow melted slowly. Instead of running rapidly off the ground into the rivers as it melted, it seeped gradually into the ground.

This factor has kept the forest fire danger in the U. S. — except in the East — from developing faster than normally. But any kind of a drought in the Western or Midwestern states, comparable to the one which hit the Atlantic coast, could quickly wipe out this temporary advantage, Forest Service officials warn.

List of Rooms to Be Kept on File

During the recent convention of the Missouri Rural Letter Carriers Association there were many of the rooms listed at the Chamber of Commerce office filled, but due to the fact that the registration was far below the number expected many of the rooms were not needed.

The Chamber of Commerrce will will keep the list of rooms on file for use during the Missouri State Council of Fire Fighters convention to be held here August 12 and 13, unless notified to take the name off the list.

There is no charge for listing rooms with the Chamber of Commerce.

Session on A-Bomb Is Secret

Second Held to Discuss Sharing Secret With Any Other Country

WASHINGTON, July 20—(AP)—A move to tie President Truman's hands against giving away atomic bomb information to any country was reported under discussion in congress today.

A lawmaker who asked not to be quoted by name said that unless the senate-house atomic committee receives definite assurance that the president doesn't intend giving A-bomb know-how to the British in an executive agreement, such a move may be made.

This legislator said that, if it comes, it will be in the form of a resolution to put Congress—or at least the Senate—on record as saying that the Atomic Energy Act bars any such exchange of information without prior approval by the lawmakers.

The possibility of such an exchange, by presidential action alone, was broached at a hush-hush Blair House conference of 16 top government officials last week.

Capital Buzzing

Another secret session of top officials with the joint atomic committee called for this afternoon, had the capitol buzzing.

At last week's closed session some who attended were said to have contended that the present act does not bar the furnishing of secrets to the British if the president decides to take that course. Others argued that only Congress could make such a decision.

Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) called the Senate-House committee together (12:30 p. m. CST) to explore this field, along with representatives of the Atomic Energy commission and military officials.

What members learned at that session about the possibilty of presidential action probably will guide their future actions, some of them said.

Secretary of State Acheson left it strictly up to Congress to do any talking that is done about the talks on atomic dealings with Britain and Canada.

All the secretary himself would do was agree that that was the subject for a hush-hush session at the capitol this afternoon.

Acheson was asked at his news conference if he could "provide any enlightenment on this government's atomic relations with Britain and Canada."

He replied that it was a matter that would be discussed with the Senate-House joint atomic committee and any comment about it must wait at least until after the discussion.

Asked whether he expected to make any statement after the session, Acheson said he had no plan to do so. He said the committee might but he did not know of any plans for it.

Does the administration propose to share fully the nation's post-war atomic secrets and "know how" with Great Britain and Canada?

Will such a step, if undertaken, be done through executive agreement, or by action of Congress?

Is there a "squeeze play" on involving the nation's uranium supply—the lifeblood of the atomic enterprise.

These and other questions circulated freely as the joint Senate-House atomic committee prepared to sit down (1:30 p. m. EST) with state, military and atomic leaders to explore the "continuing problem" of relations with Britain and Canada in the atomic field.

The conference was announced yesterday by Chairman McMahon (D-Conn) as a sequel to the Blair House meeting last Thursday night.

McMahon partially lifted the secrecy veil on that meeting by saying that the 16 state, military, congressional and atomic leaders had at that session discussed with President Truman British-Canadian relations in the atomic field.

But neither McMahon nor other Congress members who took part in the discussion would disclose the details.

And none would elaborate on the bare announcement that today's meeting would be a discussion about "the problems which lie ahead in our relations with the United Kingdom and Canada in this (atomic) field."

Union Leader Fined $1,000, Sent to Jail

For Having Picket Line in Violation Of Court Order

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., July 20—(AP)—An AFL union official today was fined $1.000 and sentenced to six months in jail for ordering a picket line around a construction project in violation of a court order.

Failing to call off the pickets was a "deliberate" contempt of court, Chancery Judge John K. Butt said in finding Joe Folsom, Fort Smith union leader, guilty of violating a court injunction.

Folsom was accused of sending six men back on a picket line around a building job here after Chancellor Butt had ordered the picketing stopped. The six pickets earlier were fined and sentenced to jail.

In delivering a strongly worded decision, Judge Butt said he would not sanction such actions in Washington county.

Regrettable Incident

He said he had no objections to unions but added that it was unfortunate that union matters had to be drawn into the case. He said he thought the unions had erred in placing the power of leadership in such persons who attempt to impose their own way of doing things.

When Judge Butt imposed the fines and jail sentences on the pickets, he called them "stupid" for violating the restraining order and said that union officials who issued the instructions also should be punished.

The labor dispute involved a new rural electrification administration building here on which contractor Carl Tune was using workers not members of the AFL Hod Carriers' union.

Judge Butt granted Folson ten days in which to ask the Arkansas supreme court to review the case. His bond was set at $5,000

Academy Board Making Study of Military Needs

WASHINGTON, July 20—(AP)—The air force has advised the House Armed Services committee and interested congressmen it is "refraining from comment" this time on bills which seek to fix a site for the proposed air academy.

Sites in Missouri—Sedalia—Kansas and Oklahoma are among those proposed.

It said the secretary of defense has appointed a service academy board to study and determine needs and that this board is expected to make recommendations for all three branches of the military establishment.

In view of this, the letter said, the air force is keeping silent now on the various measures to create an air academy.

Lions Speaker Talks on Glass

The Sedalia Lions club, at its noonday meeting, today, at the Bothwell hotel heard an interesting history on the discovery of glass and uses of it today. The talk was given by Otis W. Wiley, superintendent of the Pittsburgh-Corning Corp., plant in Sedalia.

Mr. Wiley told of glass of the early days and brought his talk up to the latest uses. Glass is now being used, he said, for fly rods for fishermen, glass cloth of various fabrics and colors, glass springs, glass nuts and bolts, glass cooking dishes, foam glass for installation, glass blocks for construction, gaskets for motors, glass wire coverings for electric motors, glass lubrication and thousands of other uses.

He told of the largest telescope lens in the world being poured by Pittsburgh-Corning, and what it is now being used for.

Mr. Wiley had several samples of glass articles on which he spoke.

Noel Tweet, program chairman, introduced Mr. Wiley.

Virgil Herrick, general chairman of the Lions Air show which is to be sponsored by the club at the Sedalia Municipal airport on Sunday, August 14, announced his committee chairmen.

A. W. Haller, president, presided over the meeting.

Russia States Italy Has Broken Treaty

Sends Protest Notes to America, Britain And France

By the Associated Press

Russia has sent a diplomatic note to Italy protesting her signing of the North Atlantic Treaty. Russia charged Italy violated the terms of her peace treaty. The British and Italian foreign offices denied it.

Simultaneously Russia sent protest notes to the United States, Britain and France accusing these powers of urging Italy to join the Atlantic pact in violation of peace treaty terms.

Ratification of the pact is under discussion in Italy's lower house of parliament—the Chamber of Deputies. It is expected to pass both houses without difficulty.

WASHINGTON, July 20 —(AP)—Secretary Acheson today described as "utterly without foundation" a Russian protest that Italy's membership in the Atlantic Alliance would violate the Italian peace treaty.

The secretary of state told a news conference he had received the Soviet protest today.

Specifically Russia said the Italian action broke Italy's peace treaty signed in Paris in February 1947. This treaty, Russia said, pledged Italy "to abstain from undertaking any actions directed against states with which that treaty was signed and consequently not to join any alliance or other groupings pursuing aggressive aims."

Calls Charges Absurd

An Italian foreign office spokesman said the charge was "absurd and ridiculous."

The Russian note also said the treaty limited Italy's armed services and war industry, yet she was already negotiating with the United States for expanded war forces. Russia charges the Atlantic Pact has aggressive aims against the Soviet Union and other communist nations Western powers contend the past will insure peace.

The Chinese Communist war machine is rolling southward again. Nationalist sources in Canton said communist troops in Kiangsi are spearheading in three directions towards Hunan, China's rice bowl. The fate of South China hangs on what happens in Hunan. Nationalists said the battle now joined would be one of the biggest and most decisive in the prolonged civil war.

The Communist press in Czechoslovakia said today that the government-sponsored Catholic action movement has taken the place of the Roman Catholic hierarchy as spokesman for Czechoslovakia's 8,000,000 Roman Catholics. Archbishop Josef Beran and his bishops are under police surveillance and perhaps effectively silenced.

To By-Pass Hierachy

According to the press reports, the government will now by-pass the hierarchy and sign a new church-state agreement with the Catholic Action Organization. This would give the government control of church affairs on its own terms.

Britain's labor government rebuked the national dock labor board for threatening to take away important labor benefits if London's 15,000 dock workers do not go back to work. The board threatened to withdraw virtual closed shop provisions and regular pay and vacation guarantees The government urged the men to return but said they would not forfeit these benefits.

Gambling Czar And 3 Others Hit by Bullets

None Killed, But All Are in a Serious Condition

By Bob Thomas and Jim Bacon

LOS ANGELES, July 20—(AP)—Gangsters' bullets early today cut down gambling czar Mickey Cohen and three other persons—including a state-appointed bodyguard for the dapper hoodlum—as the party left a smart Sunset Strip cafe.

"None of the party was killed outright but all were in a serious condition, including Harry Cooper, 36, a special bodyguard assigned to Cohen by the California attorney general.

None of the party was killed, but Harry Cooper, a special bodyguard assigned to Cohen by the California attorney general, was in a critical condition.

The other victims were Miss Dee David, a blonde, and Edward (Neddie) Herbert, a Cohen henchman. Herbert escaped 11 gangland bullets only a month ago as he was entering his apartment.

Key Figure in Inquiry

Cohen is a key figure in the sizzling grand jury inquiry into police vice tieups which already has resulted in a wholesale shake-up of the Los Angeles police department.

Only yesterday Attorney General Fred Howser disclosed that he had assigned Cooper to guard Cohen, presumably because Cohen had expressed fear that eastern gangsters were in town to assassinate him.

Barney Ruditsky, co-owner of Sherry's restaurant, where the shooting took place, said everybody was leaving the place about 4 a. m. (PST) when the shotgun charges rang out.

"It sounded like firecrackers and everybody hit the walk. There were about 25 or 30 people on the street at the time.

Shots From Across the Street

Ruditsky, a former New York City detective, said the shots came from across the street in the vicinity of the Bing Crosby building which serves as offices for the various enterprises of the crooner.

Sheriff's deputies later found two shotguns across the street.

Cohen told District Attorney's Investigator H. Leo Stanley that he didn't "know what the shooting was all about."

Miss Florabel Muir, widely known newspaper columnist, was among those on the sidewalk. A bullet went through her sleeve and grazed her arm. She writes for variety magazine, the Los Angeles Mirror and the New York Daily News

Ruditsky said he found seven empty shotgun cartridges on the other side of the street. He said apparently the gunmen had fled on foot.

President Truman Home After Attending Shrine Party

WASHINGTON, July 20—(AP)—President Truman returned by plane from Chicago today and said he had an "enjoyable trip" but would "like to get my hands on" the fellow who kept calling for "Chloe."

The reference was to a merry-maker who, with help from other noise makers, kept the president and his party awake most of last night.

The president's plane, the Independence, made the flight from Chicago in two hours and three minutes. It landed at Washington airport at 9 16 a. m (EST)

A group of government officials was on hand to greet the president but Mr Truman gave more attention to little Mike Folliard who was there to greet his dad. Edward Folliard, Washington Post correspondent who covered the Chicago speaking.

Visited With Child

Mr. Truman and Mike shook hands and the president examined and admired the cap pistol that young Folliard wore in a holster

After his brief chat with Mike and reporters, Mr Truman went directly to the White House

Last night was one he probably will long remember

A band played until after 3:00 a. m (EST) in the Stevens hotel where the president stayed and another band performed in the streets nearby. Shriners were celebrating their diamond jubilee.

Enthusiastic merrymakers tried barber-shop harmony and one lusty-lunged fellow called continually for "Chloe" in the darkness.

Up Early

Then some fire crackers started popping nearby

At 4 a m. the president was out of bed.

Forty-five minutes later, he walked from the hotel with Secret Service men and strode briskly along Michigan avenue

Radioactive Rock Found in Ste. Genevieve

Kind of Mineral; Extent of Deposit Not Yet Known

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 20—(AP)—Radioactive rock has been found in Ste. Genevieve county, Missouri, Dr. Edward L. Clark, state geologist, announced today.

The kind of mineral and the extent of the deposit are unknown. But Dr. Clark said the rock undoubtedly contains some uranium compound.

The radioactivity is stroug enough to make a Geiger counter click like a fast telegraph key.

Dr. Clark said the find—confirmed at a quarry near Ste Genevieve yesterday—"raises the possibility that this rock might be found in quantities large enough to become commercially valuable in connection with the atomic enery stockpile."

Uranium is the fissionable metal which provides the energy for the atomic bomb. The principal United States sources are in Colorado, Utah and New Mexico.

To Study Samples

Dr. Clark said the kind of uranium found in Missouri and the extent of its radioactivity will be determined by the atomic energy commission. He plans to send samples from the Ste. Genevieve quarry to the New York laboratories at once.

So far he would say only that the radioactivity is not as strong as in high grade ores now being used by the AEC.

Two kinds of rock were found to start the Geiger counter clicking at a fast pace. One is a yellow streak of metal in a chunk of gray spergen limestone. The other is a soft black shale.

Dr. Clark said Spergen limestone is known to occur near Ste. Genevieve and also near St. Louis. But similar black shale is found associated with many types of limestone throughout the state.

Site Near River

Charles Bussen of Ste. Genevieve and formerly of St. Louis, spotted the pecular yellow streaked limestone in his quarry five and a half miles north of Ste Genevieve. The site overlooks the Mississippi river.

He sent the sample to Clark at his office in Rolla a week ago. And Monday Dr. Garrett Muilenberg, the geological survey's economic geologist, spotted the radioactivity in a routine check of the sample.

Yesterday Clark and Muilenberg went to the quarry for a closer look. There they found the radioactive black shale in a shall seam in the limestone.

Court Order to Repair Bridge

The Pettis County court, this morning, made an emergency order to repair a washed out bridge in the Kendrick Special Road District No. 33 and to charge the installation and construction against the district. However, the county will make the necessary repairs.

The order stated in part the need for the emergency order is due to the fact the road is used by the mail route, and also for transporting county road equipment to other districts and as it is today, it is badly in need of repairs.

The district, it was reported by the court, is unable to make the necessary repairs for lack of funds. It was reported by the court, the costs of repairs will not be large.

Cloudburst Hits St. Louis Area

ST. LOUIS, July 20.—(AP)—A cloudburst hit the St. Louis area at going-to-work time this morning About three inches of rain fell in an hour, from 7 a. m. to 8 a m. and delayed busses, street cars and automobiles as sewers and underpasses overflowed.

The wind was up to 50 miles an hour. and there was extensive damage to trees and wiring. Union Electric Co called out every man available for emergency work and assembled a crew of 350.

The rain was so hard it blocked vision, and many drivers stopped and waited.

Governor to Montana

JEFFERSON CITY. July 20 —(AP)—Gov. Forrest Smith took off by plane this morning for Helena, Mont., and a meeting of the Missouri Basin Inter-agency committee.

He flew in a St. Louis Post-Dispatch plane. A refueling stop was planned at North Platte, Neb. He returns to his office Saturday.

Mother Brings Son's Body For Burial

City of Portland, Ore., Wires Money For Rose Wreath

Kindness, touched with tears, predominated in the crowd that met Mrs. Joseph Sumners and her eight-year-old son, Lelando, who accompanied the body of Jacob Charles Sumners from the state of Oregon, when they stepped from the train at the Missouri Pacific depot this afternoon.

Jacob Sumners, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Sumners, who have been living in Oregon for the past two years, made headlines when he gave up his life to save another life last Thursday in the Sandy river in Portland, Ore.

When the boy was drowned, the parents and the other five children just had $25.00. A Californian, who did not want any publicity, arranged for funeral arrangements and the trip back to Missouri.

Treated Fine

Mrs. Sumners said that people have treated them fine and that she didn't even see the man who furnished the trip back here. Her six-months-old son was left in charge of a volunteer registered nurse in Portland. Mrs. Sumners said she and her son would leave to re-join their family in Portland next Wednesday.

Besides the many neighbors from Lincoln and Sedalia, Mrs. Sumners was met by her brother C. E. Burnett of Lincoln, route 2, who took her and her son to Lincoln.

The Reser hearse of Lincoln came for the body. Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at Lincoln Mt. Pleasant church, south of Lincoln.

This afternoon, the State Fair Floral company received a wire from the city of Portland, Ore., to furnish a rose wreath in the shape of a heart for the funeral.

Second Tragic Death in Family

POPLAR BLUFF, Mo., July 20.—(AP)—Coroner Grover Greer today ordered post mortem examination of the body of Henry B. McManus, 21 year old Ripley county farmer, who died at a hospital here last night apparently the victim of poison.

The coroner said McManus told his father, Bert McManus, he had been poisoned and named the person he believed responsible.

McManus was arrested at Doniphan July 10 in connection with a street distrubrance. He became ill the next morning while still in jail, and was later released to his father who took him to a Doniphan hospital. He was brought to a hospital here when his condition failed to improve. His attending physician refused to sign a death certificate, the coroner said, because of the question as to cause of death.

It was the second tragic death in the family of Bert McManus within a week. Elmon McManus, 40, another son, died Sunday of injuries received in an automobile accident about a month ago.

More Hot Weather Is in Prospect

CHICAGO, July 20—(AP)—More hot weather is in prospect today for wide areas from the Rockies into the southeastern states

Temperatures of above 100 are forecast for parts of Oklahoma and in the 90's for most of the southwest. The mercury touched 103 at Wichita, Kas., yesterday and was in the 90s over much of the Great Plains and eastern Rockies. Highs of 100 were general in northern Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas. Chadron, Neb., and Fort Smith, Ark., each reported readings of 100.

Temperatures are near normal over the Great Lakes region and the northwest Pacific states and slightly above normal in the eastern states.

Transport Crashes On Houses

Six Victims Die In The Houses; Most Persons on Plane Are Saved

SEATTLE, July 20—(AP)—An air transport with 32 persons aboard crashed into five houses last night in a take off from Seattle's Boeing Field.

The coroner's office reported many hours later that six bodies had been found in the wreckage of the twin-enginer C-46 and the debris of the wrecked homes. The serch was continuing.

Miraculously, most — if not all, —of the persons aboard the Chicago-bound, non-schedule plane escaped with their lives. Most of the victims were believed to have perished in the houses.

The coroner's office said two of the six bodies had been tentatively identified. The names were not released immediately. Coroner's officers said none of the dead had been identified as having been aboard the plane.

The president of the operating company, Air Transport Associates, Inc., said he did not think any of those aboard were killed.

Engine Failure

A failure of one of the engines was blamed for the catastrophe. The plane, unable to gain sufficient altitude quickly, hit power lines above the Georgetown district in Seattle's south end. Then it plummeted into the house below, carrying death and destruction with it.

Cutting of power lines threw the area into darkness, breken by the area into darkness broken by of the dangerously dangling wires.

The C-46 was a two-engine, 50-passenger transport of a type used widely during the war for troop and cargo carriers.

Seventeen of the plane's 28 passengers and four crew members were hospitalized with injuries. Eight others were treated and released. Three were unhurt and four were unaccounted for.

Seven residents of the damaged homes also were injured, and four firemen were hospitalized, when a gasoline tank exploded three and a half hours after the crash.

Amos E. Heacock, company president and a passenger on the plane, said both engines checked out "without a sputter" at the end of the runway.

"But soon after we got into the air one motor began sputtering and the pilot evidently thought it best to continue. A few seconds later he pulled back on the throttle, apparently intending to land," Heacock said.

"Then he perceived almost immediately that he could not land and pulled throttle again, continuing to climb with a sputtering engine."

Another witness said the right motor of the plane sputtered, then cut out. The plane failed in its climb and began clipping the tops of utility poles.

Its wide wings cutting swaths through frame houses, the plane ripped through five Georgetown homes. It buried its nose in one structure.

About two minutes later it exploded.

During that short interval, passengers jumped or were thrown from the tail of the plane which had been sheared off in the crash.

Heacock said he personally chrecked all seats of the plane and all passengers had gotten out before the blast. The airline president said he found his wife, acting as stewardess, struggling with her head between two seats and threw her "bodily" off the plane.

"Then I went through the pilots' compartment, which was torn off the craft. I found two pilots struggling and a third pilot apparently dazed or unconscious.

"All three were entangled in safety belts and wreckage. One man, James M. Adams, the co-pilot, was pleading with me to get him out. I pulled the wreckage off him and picked him up and threw him clear of the flames."

Burglary Revealed by Negro Tied to Tree

WICHITA, Kas., July 20—(AP)—A taxi driver's discovery of a 47-year-old Negro tied to a street sign revealed the burglary of a northeast Wichita theater early Tuesday.

The Negro—Isaiah H. Walls—told police three men, one armed, accosted him on the way to work at the Tower theater. He said they took the keys from him and held him at gun point as they drilled the office safe. Loss was estimated at $671, detective Capt. R. B. Price said.

Game of Craps Officially Part of Gambling Casino

MONTE CARLO, Monaco, July 20—(AP)—Little Joe from Kokomo came to Monte Carlo today.

Lillian Moore, platinum blonde American dancer billed here as "one of the most beautiful blondes in New York," tossed out the dice for the first time and the game of craps officially became part of the world-famed Monte Carlo gambling casino.

Manning the table was Albert Jauffret, for 25 years a croupier at the casino before the directors sent him to America to staudy the gentle art of crapshooting.

Ajuffret became a crapshooting professor by studying the game for three months in Toledo, Cincinnati, Las Vegas, Reno, Boise and Sun Valley.

"We have adopted the Idaho system for Monte Carlo," Jauffret said. "Because the betting isn't as complicated."

He said there are 65 different ways to play dice in America. The Idaho system was an easier one to understand.

You lose your money betting the shooter will make it the hard way — a four by throwing two twos, a six by throwing two threes, an eight by throwing two fours or ten by coming up with a pair of fives.

Skywriter is Waiting For Clear Weather

All August A. Ficken of Miami, Fla., is waiting for in Sedalia is a clear afternoon so that he can go up and be gone from Sedalia in less than eight minutes. And then fly to Columbia and skywrite a sign there. And then go on to St. Louis.

Ficken flew from Springfield to Sedalia Monday in his red, white and blue 8T6 modeled airplane to skywrite a sign here for the Pepsi Cola Bottling company. He was up Monday morning, but had to land, because he said it was too cloudy.

Ficken, who pilots his plane, said skywriting is done above 10,000 feet in smooth air. The letters in Pepsi Cola are over a mile long. The sign is about 15 miles across and only takes between seven and eight minutes to write, although it takes about 30 miles of flying to write the word Pepsi.

He said that the smoke was made by injecting an oil mixture into the exhaust of the engine, which is controlled by valves in the cockpit by turning them off and on.

Ficken started skywriting in 1934 and has been with the Pepsi Cola company since 1937. During his flying career he has spent 8,000 hours in the air and has written over 4,000 signs in 40 states. He has flown since 1928 and spent four years in the army as a major in the Air Transport Command.

He said the job of sky writing is not dangerous, but is precise and timed flying.

The Nation Today

Mixed Opinions on Justice Murphy Who Died Tuesday

by James Marlow

WASHINGTON, July 20—(AP)—There are mixed opinions on the stature of Justice Frank Murphy, who died yesterday.

But if any epitaph is needed for him this one would be true: He wrote well and he thought in terms of people.

His opinions had life and feeling. Compared with some Supreme Court opinions that have been handed down, his were clear and easy to read.

It is easy for a man, elevated to the great eminence of the Supreme Court, to grow far away from people and think of abstract principles.

Philosophy Summed Up

This, perhaps, sums up his philosophy as well as anything:

"The immutable rights of the individual, including those secured by the due process clause of the fifth amendment, belong not alone to the members of those nations that excel on the battlefield or that subscribe to the democratic ideology.

"They belong to every person in the world, victor and vanquished, whatever may be his race, color or beliefs. They rise above any status of belligerency or outlawry.

"They survive any popular passion or frenzy of the moment. No court or legislature or executive, not even the mightiest army in the world, can ever destroy them.

"Such is the universal and indestructible nature of the rights which the fifth amendment recognizes and protects when life or liberty is threatened by virtue of the authority of the United States."

A Caustic Dissent

He wrote that in a caustic dissent when a majority of the Supreme Court upheld a U. S. Army commission's death sentence for the captured Japanese general, Tomoyuki Yamashita, in 1946.

The Washington Post, which today discussed Murphy's place in Supreme Court history, acknowledges his concern for the rights of individuals but thinks he falls a good deal short of greatness. It says:

"In spite of his devotion to the cause of civil rights and his humanitarian spirit, Murphy can not be regarded as one of the great men of the American judiciary.

"His special talent was not that of the judge but that of the crusader, and his record might well have been more notable if he had not attempted to reconcile his humanitarianism with a judicial robe."

Sensitive To The Times

It's probably too soon to call the shot on Murphy. He was certainly sensitive to the times he lived in when the maintenance of civil rights every day becomes more of an issue.

He'll be quoted from time to time for years by lawyers, which is about the best legal immortality a justice can hope for although the passing years are unlikely to turn him into a giant like Justice Holmes.

References to him among laymen will grow infrequent in a few months. Most of them within a couple of years probably will forget the year in which he died.

And in a few years more his name most likely will slip out of the memory of the big majority of living Americans. And if you doubt this, ask yourself:

Many Able Men

Who are the other eight justices left on the court now? Can you remember the names of all the Supreme Court justices of the past 15 years?

And yet this forgetfulness about some of this country's most distinguished men is, in a backhanded kind of way, probably one of the best signs of the country's almost inexhaustible richness in ability.

Men of talent, of great earnestness for public service, come out of comparative oblivion, work faithfully for the nation, retire or die, and there seems to be an endless stream of able men to take their place.

Attended Funeral

Those from out of town who attended the funeral services held for Billy Echard July 12 were: Mr. and Mrs. Julian Wilborn, of Fort Worth, Texas; Mrs. Bruce Harling of Fort Worth, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Welborn and sons of Wilberton, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wilborn, of Erie, Kas.; Mr. and Mrs ; Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Wilborn and sons of Warrensburg; Mr. and Mrs. James Wilborn and daughter of Warrensburg, the grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Wilborn and her three granddaughters, Barbara, Beverly and Betty of Warrensburg; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wilborn of Tulsa, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stephenson of Tulsa, Okla., and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Echard and son, of Flint, Mich.

No Help From City Papers

CHICAGO, July 20.—(AP)—President Truman says he never has received support from any metropolitan daily newspapers in a "bitter" election campaign, and he has "no respect for their political prognostications or their influence."

Mr. Truman, speaking informally at a reception by Illinois Democratic leaders last night, said that Arthur Hays Sulzberger, president of the New York Times, has acknowledged he was "misinformed" when he told Pope Pius in 1948 that Mr. Truman had no chance of election.

The president said Sulzberger told the Pope he could "assure" him "that I wouldn't be in the White House after January." However, Mr. Truman said. when he later took up the matter with the New York newspaper executive, Sulzberger said that newspaper men "polled themselves" and "didn't talk to the voters."

Sulzburger, in New York, said he had "always assumed that a conversation with the Pope was as confidential as one that might be had with the President of the United States."

"I shall continue to adhere to my naive beliefs," he added.

Ask Help to Stop Flow of Illicit Liquor

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 20.—(AP)—The United Dry Association of Oklahoma today called upon the federal government to send agents to help stop the flow of illicit liquor into this dry state.

The request came after it was disclosed this week that the last Oklahoma legislature unknowingly passed a law allowing federal agents to aid in enforcement of the state's prohibition laws.

The law, known as the "bone dry" measure. had been repealed by another "sleeper" clause in the state's beer tax bill in 1947. The 1949 reenactment was in a bill allowing sacramental wine to be transported into Oklahoma.

Dinner for Tractor Dealers

Twenty-one Ford tractor dealers attended a demonstration of the Wood Brothers corn pickers at the Engle Tractor and Implement Company warehouse, Main street and Lamine avenue, Tuesday afternoon and a dinner in the Palm room of the Bothwell hotel that evening.

The dealers attended from ten surrounding counties. The afternoon demonstration was held at 3:00 o'clock and given by Carl Marmount, James E. O'Bryant and Clarence Vestal, all of Springfield The meeting was arranged by Scudder Hull.

Clarence Vestal was guest speaker at the dinner, which began at 6:30 o'clock. He was introduced by J. E. O'Bryant. The topic of his talk was "Corn-pickers and the Service On Ford Tractors." Attending these meetings was William Chamberlin, of Springfield, who is the District Supervisor of the Ford tractors.

Among those who attended were Carl Hausmann of California, Don Rohrbach and Leroy Henry of Jefferson City, Ed Hunt and Doris Scrivner of Eldon, William Wood of Fayette, George Rissling, J. R. Krewson and Everett Austin of Clinton, George Russell and Fred Barnes of Columbia, Oliver Murrell of Boonville and Scudder Hull and Everett Stebenson of Sedalia.

HOW TO MEET A SHY DEER— Miss Frances Freeman, a visitor to the Kendall, Fla., Rare Bird Farm, feeds peanuts to Nicki, pet deer, which is seldom friendly to strangers.

SWEEPING THE CITY CLEAN—Even the wind in the Windy City of Chicago won't blow this stuff away. Those are millions of sandflies whose carcasses are littering up the sidewalk in front of a lakeside restaurant. Seems the flies were attracted by the bright lights of the big city but batted their heads against the wall trying to get to them. Now Mrs. L. Hertzbert, who owns the restaurant, is stuck with the job of cleaning up the mess.

NAVY'S FAST ACTION SAVES A SAILOR'S LIFE—

These dramatic pictures taken in the mid-Atlantic show how one of the U. S. Navy's special rescue methods saved the life of a seaman stricken with appendicitis on the 1949 Midshipmen's Cruise. Lester T. O'Brien, of Cleveland, O., was transferred from the USS Fraser, which has no surgery facilities, to the USS Missouri on a stretcher. Once aboard, he was rushed to sick bay where a doctor made a rapid blood count. He was operated on immediately and a few hours later smoked a cigaret and grinned happily from his bed "Operation successful" was written into the record and Seaman O'Brien spent his liberty in England right on schedule.

New Election Board at St. Louis

JEFFERSON CITY, July 20—(AP)—Gov. Forrest Smith appointed a new St. Louis County board of election commissioners Tuesday an dsaid he expected no trouble getting them confirmed by the state senate.

The new board.

John E. Mooney, Democrat and chairman, 130 S. Price Road, Ladue.

George F. Heege, Republican and secretary, 239 Way Street, Kirkwood.

Lynn Meyer, Democrat, 24A Meremec, Clayton.

Edward E. Heil, Republican, 8909 Lackland Street, Overland.

Mooney, Heege and Meyer are lawyers. Heil is a grocer. All live in the district of Sen. Hartwell G. Crain (R) and the governor said he though they would be satisfactory to Crain and Sen. John D. Fels (R), the other St. Louis County senator.

They succeed John Q. Brown and Gene G. Tighe, Democrats, and Elmer W. Held and Oscar Habenich, Republicans. Their terms expired yesterday.

The governor said the new board would take office as soon as the members are sworn in, perhaps tomorrow. Their appointments will be before the senate for confirmation when it comes back to work next October.

Fenenga Back to High School Job

ST. LOUIS, July 20—(AP)—Bert E. Fenenga, superintendent of the State Training School for Boys at Boonville, will be reinstated in a high school teaching job here in September.

This disclosure was made Tuesday by P. J. Hickey, city superintendent of public school instruction.

Hickey said Fenenga's exact assignment will not be determined until next month, but that it is customary to return a teacher to his former position.

Fenenga was teaching at Cleveland high school when he was appointed a year ago to the superintendency of the Boonville institution.

It was reported last week in Jefferson City that Fenenga was being replaced at Boonville. At present he is on a paid leave of absence from the institution.

Hickey said Fenenga had asked to return to his old job here.

For years many sufferers of rheumatism, arthritis, and neuritis, and kindred ailments have been dosing themselves with pills, powders and other medicines. These only serve to deaden the pain temporarily. They have no effect on a common cause of rheumatic pains . . . namely SYSTEMIC POISONS. These poisons finally seep into the bones, muscles and nerves. So no wonder you ache all over, can't sleep at night, wake up stiff and sore in the morning. How can you expect freedom from pain until you do something to drive these poisons out of your system? New hope for relief is yours if you take NATURE'S OWN REMEDY — famous SPA MINERAL WATER direct from Excelsior Springs. You simply take one or two tablespoons a day, mixed in a glass of ordinary water. Do this regularly and believe the evidence in your own case.

Amazing Facts From Chamber of Commerce

It is not claimed that Excelsior Springs Mineral Water is a cure-all; however the fact that 91% of those treated found relief is certainly impressive. Much of this success was due to the famous Saline Mineral Water because it removes from the body the POISONS that cause these dread diseases. This is the same Saline Mineral Water which you can now have in CONCENTRATED FORM.

Exhibit of War Relics

A traveling exhibit of captured war relics, attached to a truck parked at Third street and Ohio avenue, is being viewed by Sedalians as they pass by on the sidewalks and streets.

The exhibit is being sponsored by the local Veterans of Foreign Wars, and is conducted by J. H. Russell, who worked Sedalia last year with a similar exhibit. The proceeds taken from the exhibit is to be used for relief purposes for veterans and their families.

Included in the exhibit are Japanese and German war equipment, such as guns, cannons, machine guns, swords and pictures pertaining to the brutality of the war. Tojo is pictured after he shot himself, Tokyo Rose and the signing of the treaty on board the U. S. S. Missouri, etc.

The exhibit will be in Sedalia until Wednesday night, then will be moved to Jefferson City for a few days. The traveling exhibit has covered nearly every city in the United States.

Things are looking up when Mom rings the bell. . . . But, hey where's the fire?

WHOOSH! THE SMOOTH WAY TO DINNER—Living in a two-flat home in Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Van Der Bosche and their nine children, ranging from 7 to 25 years old, had a problem. Mom was always complaining that it took too long for the gang to reach the table after she rang the dinner bell. But 9-year-old Casey came up with an idea that solved the problem. He watched firemen sliding down the pole in the neighborhood fire station and decided that was what they needed at home. Now the dinner bell is followed by nine "whooshs"—and soup's on.

Want to Run a "Collective" Farm?
Was reading the other day about the "collective" farms they have in certain countries. It seems the folks who run them have plenty of help . . . good hours . . . and the best equipment.
Sounds pretty nice—till you learn that the "farmer" doesn't own his land, or even farm it, in our sense. He takes orders from the state; produces what they want, at prices they set. Even his off-hours are spent according to state regulations.
That wouldn't go here. We're proud of our farms . . . but prouder still of the right to make our own rules. That goes not just for farmers, but for every American industry. Like the brewers' program of Self-Regulation which sees to it that taverns selling beer are decent, law-abiding places.
From where I sit, we've gone a lot further in this country with self-regulation than other nations have with strict controls. Let's never change.

Club Plans For Annual Picnic

The Neighborly Neighbors extension club met in July at the home of Mrs. Charles Singer. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Tom Conaway, and opened with the devotional, the Twenty-ninth Psalm being given by Catherine Scott. There was a report by Mrs. T. J. Raines on the points brought up at the recent council meeting. A display for Achievement Day was decided on, and plans made for the annual August picnic. Sylvia Harper gave her 4-H demonstration of making biscuit mix. Following adjournment, the hostess opened her gifts, and then refreshments of sandwiches, cookies and tea were served.

Before leaving, the guests joined in singing the club song, "Song of Peace," accompanied by Mrs. John Greer, who also played "Follow the Gleam."

Five guests, Mrs. John Greer, Mrs. J. D. Nichols, Mrs. Maude Younger, Mrs. Franklin Younger and Miss Sylvia Harper, were present.

The next meeting, the annual picnic, will be held at the home of Mrs. Myron C. Harper the night of Aug. 11.

Decision Near as To Referendum

JEFFERSON CITY, July 20—(AP)—The Missouri Bus and Truck Association will decide in the next few days whether to participate in a referendum test of a state gasoline increase.

The organization's board of directors discussed Gov. Forrest Smith's road program bill at a meeting here Tuesday. But Ursel Lewellen, executive secretary said about 20 directors decided to poll the other board members before reaching a decision.

The measure, now ready for the governor's signature, would double Missouri's gas tax of two cents a gallon, setting aside one cent of the increase to build low type rural roads.

Bus and truck operators have been among those opposing the tax hike. Others include the Missouri Automobile Club, the Missouri Petroleum Industry Committee and public transit firms.

Lewellen said only two-thirds of the directors were on hand to day.

"We decided it was of such importance we would personally contact all other board members and make our announcement within a few days."

Governor Smith met with some directors of the organization yesterday. He said then he hoped the group would not participate in a move to refer the bill to the people by a referehdum petition.

If a petition of some 55,000 Missourians is filed with the Secretary of State by Oct. 13, the road bill could not become effective unless voters approved it in the November, 1950, general election.

Directors of the petroleum industrys committee plan a meeting in St. Louis July 26 to discuss whether to participate in a referendum.

The Missouri Automobile Club, meanwhile, is reported near a decision on its position.

It is now estimated that there are about 11,000,000 Americans 65 years or older.

Committee Setback on Brannan Plan

Subsidy Program As Applicable to Hogs Rejected

By Francis M. LeMay

WASHINGTON, July 20—(AP)—Skeptical lawmakers put a blight on the Brannan farm plan Tuesday and it appeared to be in danger of withering on the vine.

A Senate agriculture sub-committee rejected a bill that would have empowered Secretary of Agriculture Brannan to try out his subsidy program on hogs.

While this setback was not decisive, it appeared to symbolize the strong congressional opposition to the administration plan. One Democratic senator close to the White House confided in reporters: "There won't be any trial run of the Brannan plan."

The plan would let market prices of perishable crops drop to their natural level. Then the government would pay subsidies to farmers to keep their income up to a certain level. These subsidies would eventually be paid by taxpayers.

Differs From Present Plan

The plan contrasts with the present system, under which the government supports the market price by buying up surplusses and removing them from the market. In doing this, the government prevents a depression in prices which the surplus otherwise would create.

The senators' rejection of the subsidy plan for hogs, coupled with other Capitol Hill developments, pointed to a possibility that the fight over future farm legislation may narrow down to a contest between (1) the present high 90 percent of parity wartime price support and (2) the so-called Aiken law allowing supports for major products to be set as low as 60 percent of parity.

(Parity is a price calculated to give a farmer the same purchasing power he had in a past, favorable period.)

In the House a coalition of Democrats and Republicans rejected a Brannan plan compromise proposal and decided on an all out fight to extend the present program another year. This coalition dislikes both the Brannan plan and the Aiken law. The latter legislation is scheduled to go into effect next Jan. 1.

Meanwhile John W. Flannagan, Jr., of Virginia, retired House Democratic farm leader in the last Roosevelt administration, has wired Rep. Gore (D-Tenn) praising him for "the gallant fight you are putting up to keep the American farmer from becoming a charity patient in the government hospital."

Gore, usually an administration supporter but now leading the fight on its farm bill, predicted the House will approve his substitute bill continuing the present farm program.

Opening of the House debate on the farm bill was postponed until tomorrow, when the House adjourned out of respect to Supreme Court Justice Murphy who died in Detroit early today.

Sedalian Enjoyed Vacation by Going Back to Home Town

"Fun on my vacation! I should say I did have fun," said a man who had just spent two weeks in the small town where he was born. I thought I wouldn't know anybody there any more, but I saw more old friends. There was a picnic every other day, I think. First one little church and then another and I went to them all."

"One of my favorite spots in childhood was a valley about as wide as a highway between two high hills. My, those hills looked high to me."

"They don't look so high now?" someone asked.

"Oh, yes, indeed," he answered. "They look just as high as ever."

Roaming over the country that had been his kingdom as a child he vividly relived the happy times he had had in his boyhood. The people that he had grown up with who were still living there helped him to recall many things, some of which he had forgotten.

A Reminder

There was one little incident that he was reminded of that he had not forgotten.

A woman came up to him with a smile and said: "Do you remember the little silk handkerchief you gave me?"

"I certainly do," he replied with a broad grin. "That is one thing I will never forget."

The little silk handkerchief had been given to his sister by her boy friend, he said. It was quite the thing those days for girls to wear silk handkerchiefs stuck in the pockets of their dresses. He was just a little shaver and that silk handkerchief really struck his fancy—in fact so much so that he swiped it to give to a pretty little girl at school he was very fond of.

Back Went the Handkerchief

The little girl was delighted. She took it proudly home and showed it to her mother and father. But her parents felt that there must be something wrong somewhere. That was too nice a gift for such a little boy to be giving to such a little girl, so they investigated. They asked his mother and father and found that the hankie really was a treasured possession of big sister.

"My, how I did hate to part with that handkerchief," she told him.

"Did she still look good to you?" he was asked.

"She sure did," he answered, "She is married and has a family, but she looked mighty good to me—and everybody else down there did, too."

Well, everybody has their own opinion of a good vacation. It might mean a going to some lake fishing; it might mean a few weeks in some city or at the beach or a dude ranch it might mean a trip abroad into interesting and different countries—but to the person who hasn't been back where he was reared for a number of years—the paradise for a real vacation is the old home town.

THE EYES HAVE IT—Two dachshunds express conflicting reactions in their eyes as they get set to board a plane in Los Angeles for Honolulu. Vincent of Heying Teckel, left, expresses a flat "no." His traveling companion, Redmond's Red Honey, cocks her head with confidence. Looks adventurous to her.

SHE'LL STAY UP TILL RENTS COME DOWN—Mrs. Arthur Ellis kisses her daughter Sharon, 4, and husband goodbye, at right, before starting aloft to her perch 50 feet above the ground. The family's been looking for an apartment and says Mrs. Ellis, this is as good a way as any to find one. She hopes the six-foot-square platform, at right, will solve the problem by persuading some good Samaritan to offer them a reasonably priced apartment. Ellis is now trying to persuade his wife to come down again, but she says she'll stay up till rents come down..

Cases up in Court Today

B. B. Bettis, 201 East Fourteenth street, charged with speeding, failed to appear before Judge Berry and his $10 cash bond was ordered forfeited by Judge Berry.

Beeson Georgia of Ionia, arrested by the police for breaking glass in the street, failed to appear in court and his $10 cash bond was ordered forfeited.

Donald Lee Tye, 2122 East Broadway, appeared in court and pleaded guilty to a speeding charge and was fined $10 and then pleaded guilty to running a stop sign at Main street and Washington avenue, and was fined $5.00.

Sedalia A's Meet Maytags In Jeff City

Athletics Play Second Round in Tourney 9:30 p.m.

The Sedalia Athletics will be gunning for top prize money of $1,000 offered in the Missouri semi-pro baseball tournament held in Jefferson City when they meet the Columbia Maytags at 9:30 o'clock tonight.

The Athletics lost their first round play with the Jefferson City Eagles, Monday night by a score of 4-2, when a long homer put the game on ice for the colored team.

The tournament is a two-game elimination affair, and if the Athletics lose tonight's contest they would automatically be eliminated. Should the team overcome the Columbians, they would still play in the lower bracket, until they won another game, thus moving into the upper bracket.

The team that comes out on top will be awarded $1,000 being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce in Jefferson City. Second, third and fourth winners will get a percentage from gate receipts.

Sedalians Attend

A large delegation from Sedalia attended the game Monday night, and another large crowd is expected to be on hand tonight. The local team will leave from the Plamor Recreation. 207 West Main street this evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Manager Vincent Siegel will use Walker, Hall or Wilson on the Hill with either Meyers or MacMackin behind the plate. The Maytags lost their round of play when the Marshall Redbirds downed them to the tune of 9 to 1.

Vienna eliminated Tebbetts from the Missouri tourney with a 6-5 defeat Tuesday night. Vienna's runs came in the seventh inning on three hits and three errors.

Toppers to Play At Park Tonite

The Sedalia Toppers girls softball team will play their first home night game tonight at 8:15 o'clock at Liberty park, when they meet the strong Emma, Mo., team. The Toppers are in good shape for tonight's contest, following their regular Tuesday evening workout.

Emma is the only team that has beaten Sedalia in eight games, when the locals lost 6 to 1 to that team earlier in the season. The Toppers have come out on top in the other seven contests, and will be gunning for their eighth win tonight.

Although manager John Sole will not announce the starting lineup until game time, the following will be available for duty: Walz, pitcher and outfielder; Sole, catcher; Beucke, Shanahan, Bellis, and Closser, infield; Olson, Koeller, Ream, Balke, England, and Alexander, outfield; Clifford, infield and outfield; and Merrill, pitcher. Coaches Duane Beucke and Lee Traner will assist manager Sole in selecting the starters.

Earl Spieler will call balls and strikes, with Elwood Simon umpiring bases. The game will be broadcast over the loud speaker, with Jimmie Glenn doing the calling.

There will be no admission charge for the game, but a good will offering will be taken up during the evening.

Junior Legion Beats Lebanon By 17 to 10

Wild and Ragged Played Contest to The Sedalians

The Sedalia Junior Legion Post 16 team took a wild and loosely played game from the Lebanon Junior Legion, Tuesday night at Liberty park, by a final tally of 17 to 10. This was the rubber game of a three-game practice series with Lebanon, each team having taken one contest previously.

The game was a good contest going into the seventh inning, with the Sedalia aggregation leading 3 to 2. However, the seventh inning carried a charm for the number seven, with each team collecting that many runs in that frame. The Sedalia boys put the game on ice, again scoring seven runs, in the eighth inning.

Brown Started

Brown started on the hill for Sedalia, but was relieved in the third by Walker, who in turn bowed to Schulz in the seventh. Neidholt was the Sedalia catcher. Sanders, the Lebanon starter, was relieved by Schoonamaker, the first baseman, but later resumed mound duties, having remained in the game. Benage was behind the plate for the visitors.

The feature blows of the game were home runs. Schoonamaker hit one over the left field fence for the visitors in the seventh inning with two men on, and Walker hit one inside the park in the eighth with one on for Sedalia.

Ruffin and Shawver led the Sedalia hitters with two for four each, and Shultz and McCrary had one for one apiece. Sedalia collected a total of 12 hits against ten for Lebanon.

All the players on the Sedalia team took advantage of the practice game in training to switch positions and prepare for other situations that may arise in zone tournament, which the Legion will enter Friday at Kirksville.

Lebanon	—	000	002	710	— 10

By the Associated Press

Strong armed Ray Peterson and the seventh-place Hutchinson Elks spoiled Fort Smith's chances of gaining on the Western Association's leading St. Joseph Cardinals last night.

Peterson came up with a 1-hit masterpiece as Hutchinson whipped the Giants 6 to 1 at Hutchinson. The Giants' run was unearned.

The St. Joseph Cards maintained an eight-game lead over Fort Smith although losing to the Topeka Owls, 2-1 at home. Dick (Chief) Pahmahmie scattered 8 card hits in gaining his third victory over the leaders.

Muskogee took advantage of Fort Smith's misfortunes and moved into a second place tie with the Giants by shutting out Salina 6-0 behind Ed Carl's 3-hit pitching.

It was the same sad story for Leavenworth, the Braves running their current losing streak to 23 games in bowing to Joplin, 8-3 The new string of defeats broke the 22-game losing row of the Braves at the start of the season.

Leavenworth outhit Joplin 11 to 10, but home runs by Warren Moore and Casey Darrah, both of Joplin, proved the difference. Dick Carr cracked a four bagger for Leavenworth.

The third games in the four-game series is scheduled for the same parks tonight Topeka will be at St. Joseph, Fort Smith at Hutchinson, Joplin at Leavenworth and Muskogee at Salina.

Lesnevich Trains For NBA Crown

He Will Meet Charles Aug. 10 At Yankee Stadium

SUMMIT, N. J., July 20—(AP)—Better late than never. That's Gus Lesnevich's motto as he prepares for a delayed shot at the world heavyweight championship—NBA version.

"Fighting for the heavyweight title is the dream of all fighters," he said, as might be expected, "I was all set to fight Joe Louis last year until that Mills thing happened."

"That Mills thing" was a 15-round bout at London last July in which Gus lost his world light heavyweight crown.

"It was tough to lose the big shot with Louis," he said, "especially when you think you won 12 of the 15 rounds. But that's the breaks."

Worth Fighting For

Back home at Cliffside Park, N. J., Gus has four most important reasons for wanting to win the title. They are Gus, Jr., age 6½, Gerry, age 2½ and twin girls who were born a little over a year ago.

A Cincinnati promoter claims to have a contract by which Gus agreed to fight Maxim again at Cincinnati September 19 and agreed to take no bouts before that date. The NBA now threatens to suspend him in 47 states if he goes through with the Yankee Stadium bout. Gus definitely expects to fight Charles, come what may.

Millers-Brews Split Twin Bill

By The Associated Press

Strapping, 22-year-old Jack Harshman, who got his baseball start in the American Legion at San Diego, Calif., has regained the American Association run-batted-in lead.

In a feud for the honor with Milwaukee's Howie Moss, the Minneapolis first sacker belted two homers last night as the Millers and Brews split a twin bill.

Harshman, being groomed eventually to take over first baseman Johnny Mize's spot in the New York Giants lineup, drove in three runs during the doubleheader to boost his RBI tally to 89. Moss has 88. Harshman also boosted his homer output to 33.

Race For Batting Honors

While the race for individual batting honors is keeping tempo with the flag chase itself, St. Paul maintained a one-game edge in the lead by shading Kansas City, 6-4. The Saints, held to three hits by Frank Hiller, exploded for five runs in the ninth featuring Dan Ozark's triple.

Second-place Indianapolis kept stride by downing Toledo, 5-1, with a 14-hit assault.

Toledo at Indianapolis
Columbus at Louisville
St. Paul at Milwaukee
Minneapolis at Kansas City.

ALL SIZES—Dominic, left, of the Red Sox and the Yankees' Joe DiMaggio are rarely together, but play baseball the same way.

Ralph Waters Hit Homer in Seventh With Bases Loaded

In a loosely, yet well played game, the Sedalia Chiefs defeated Boonville Lions 10 to 5 in a Ban Johnson League game there Tuesday night, running the Chief's record to four wins in five games for the second half of the season.

The victory was contributed to the four hit, 11 strikeout hurling of the Chiefs' ace-righthander, Joe Imhauser and the timely hitting of his teammates.

Sedalia trailed 4 to 1 going into the seventh, when Ralph Waters clouted a grand slamer over the left field fence, and from then on the Sedalia Chiefs scored at will for the remainder of the game.

Loaded Bases

Thursday night, under the lights of Liberty Park at 8:15 o'clock the Chiefs will play host to a strong semi-pro club of Eldon in a non-league game. May and White will work their first battery for the local team.

Sunday night at 8:15 o'clock at Liberty Park, the Chiefs will play a regular scheduled game with the Jefferson City Stags. Joe Imhauser is slated to work the mound for Sedalia.

The leading Moberly B-J team is scheduled to play in Sedalia on the night of July 28, which contest may be the deciding blow in the second half of the league standing.

Baseball Experts Are Ready With Routine 'I Told You So'

By Joe Reichler
Associated Press Sports Writer

Is this the start of that long-awaited New York Yankee collapse?

Baseball experts, who vowed the Yankees would finish no higher than fourth this year, wore that old wise look today. A good many of them were ready to give you that "I told you so" routine.

And they may have something there. For the Bronx Bombers of late have looked like anything but the league leaders they are.

In losing yesterday, 5-4, to Cleveland the Yanks extended their losing skein to three in a row. They now have dropped four of their last five games, three of them to second division clubs. Whereas they once boasted an eight-game margin, their lead has shrunk to three and a half games over the advancing Indians.

Supposedly A Tight Struggle

Why, the Brooklyn Dodgers own the same lead in the National League—three and a half games over the St. Louis Cardinals. And that was supposed to be a tense, tight struggle.

The Tribe battery of pitcher Bob Lemon and catcher Jim Hegan was responsible for the Yankees' most recent defeat. Lemon not only whipped the Yankees for the third time this year in racking up his 11th triumph, but hammered his fourth home run, with Hegan on base. Hegan broke up the game in the last of the ninth with a home run.

The Boston Red Sox climbed back into third place, seven and a half games off the pace, defeating the Chicago White Sox, 6-4. Vern Stephens' two-run single highlighted the Red Sox three-run ninth inning that kayoed starter Marino Pieretti. Ellis Kinder allowed eight hits to register his 10th triumph.

Tigers Nosed Out Senators

The Tigers blew a 6-0 lead behind Hal Newhouser, but bounced back to eke out a 7-6 triumph over the Washington Senators. Three successive eighth inning walks plus a long fly by Johnny Lipon brought in the winning run. Virgil Trucks, who relieved Newhouser after the Nats had blasted the lefthander for five runs in the sixth, was credited with his 12th victory.

Four home runs helped the St. Louis Browns sweep a twilight night doubleheader from the Philadelphia Athletics, 9-4 and 5-4. It was the Browns' fifth straight victory. Jack Graham and Sherm Lollar hit four baggers in the first game, and Gerry Priddy and Dick Kokos slammed circuit clouts in the second. Bob Dillinger was the chief gun in the Brownie attack, turning in six consecutive hits—three singles and a triple in the opener.

Dodgers Edged Out Pirates

The Dodgers picked up a full game on the Cardinals, edging out the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-3, while the Boston Braves knocked off the Redbirds, 5-2. Bruce Edwards singled with the bases loaded and none out in the ninth to snap a 3-3 tie and give the Brooks the decision.

Southpaw Warren Spahn posted his 11th triumph, limiting the Cardinals to six hits as the braves batted Max Lanier out of the box in the fourth. Elbie Fletcher socked a three-run homer off the Card southpaw in the third.

Scoring at least once in every inning, the New York Giants battered three Cincinnati hurlers for 20 hits including three homers to humble the Reds, 13-3. Hank Thompson, Johnny Mize and Marshall contributed home runs.

A Tight Race In KOM League

By the Associated Press

The K-O-M baseball flag chase continued tight as a miser's pocketbook today with only 6 games separating the leading Independence Yankees and sixth place Chanute.

The Yankees, who have been hot as the weather the past week, had some of their steam let off at home last night by losing to first game of a double header on a 9-7 count to Miami. They bounced back, however, to win the nightcap 6-3 and maintain their three-game lead over Iola.

Iola defeated Bartlesville 5-2 in the first game of a doubleheader, but bowed in the second tilt, 8-3. Joe Malott, making his first professional start, pitched a six-hitter for the Indians in losing.

Chanute beat third place Carthage, 2-1, in the best played game of the night as Pete Newbested George Erath in a pitching duel. New singled in the wining run in the seventh. Each hurler gave 5 hits.

Ponca City's Dodgers made it two in a row over Pittsburg, 11-0 at Pittsburgh. The Dodgers shelled three Brownie pitchers for 13 hits in winning such as they pleased.

The current series ends at each of the parks tonight. Miami will play at Independence, Iola at Bartlesville, Carthage at Chanute and Ponca City at Pitisburg.

Cards Slipped A Notch in The Nationals

Boston Beat Them 5 to 2 Tuesday Night

By The Associated Press

The Cardinalss lipped another notch last night in their losing struggle for the top of the National League. Boston beat them 5 to 2 after Brooklyn nailed Pittsburgh 4 to 3 in the afternoon.

So now the Cards are three and a half games behind the Dodgers and only two and a half ahead of the Braves, whom they meet again tonight.

For home town pride, St. Louis fans could concentrate on the Browns, who took a twilight-night doubleheader from Philadelphia last night, 9-4 and 5-4, for their fifth straight victory.

The Story at Boston

The story at Boston was that Warren Spahn was right and Max Lanier was not. It was Spahn's 11th victory against eight losses, and it was the reinstated Lanier's second defeat, period. Spahn was touched for six hits, including a ninth-inning home run by Stan Musial.

Lanier was knocked out of the box in the fourth inning, when the Braves scored twice after getting to him for three runs in the third. Boston's first baseman Elbie Fletcher started the damage when he hit a home run with two mates aboard.

Cardinals Lost 4 out of 6

The Cardinals now have lost four out of the last six games, and seven of 15 on this trip after winning six of the first nine.

Connie Mack's Athletics came to St. Louis in a horrible slump and stayed in it. They have won only two out of the last 11.

It was fine relief pitching that turned the tricks for the Browns. In the first game Bill Kennedy went to the rescue of Ned Garver and was saved in turn by Joe Ostrowski. In the second game Karl Drews couldn't make the grade and Ostrowski gave him a lift. Then Ostrowski's arm got sore in the eighth inning and Red Embree brought the Brownies in.

The St. Louis men were long on home runs. Jack Graham got his 17th and Sherman Lollar his fifth in the opener, and in the second game Gerry Priddy belted his eighth and Dick Kokos his 18th.

Stolhandske, called "the Big Swede," was one of the most widely sought schoolboy athletes in Texas. Fourteen major colleges offered him a scholarship. Coaches camped on his door step. One out-of-state scout called Tom at 2:30 a. m. and two days later was at the Stolhandske home before breakfast.

On another occasion, one head coach and assistants were at the Stolhandske home. One of them made a freezer of ice cream. As it was finished, another scout from a rival school walked in. So the first group served him ice cream, too, but with glances as cold as the dessert.

Now Stolhandske has picked the University of Texas where he will play football and basketball.

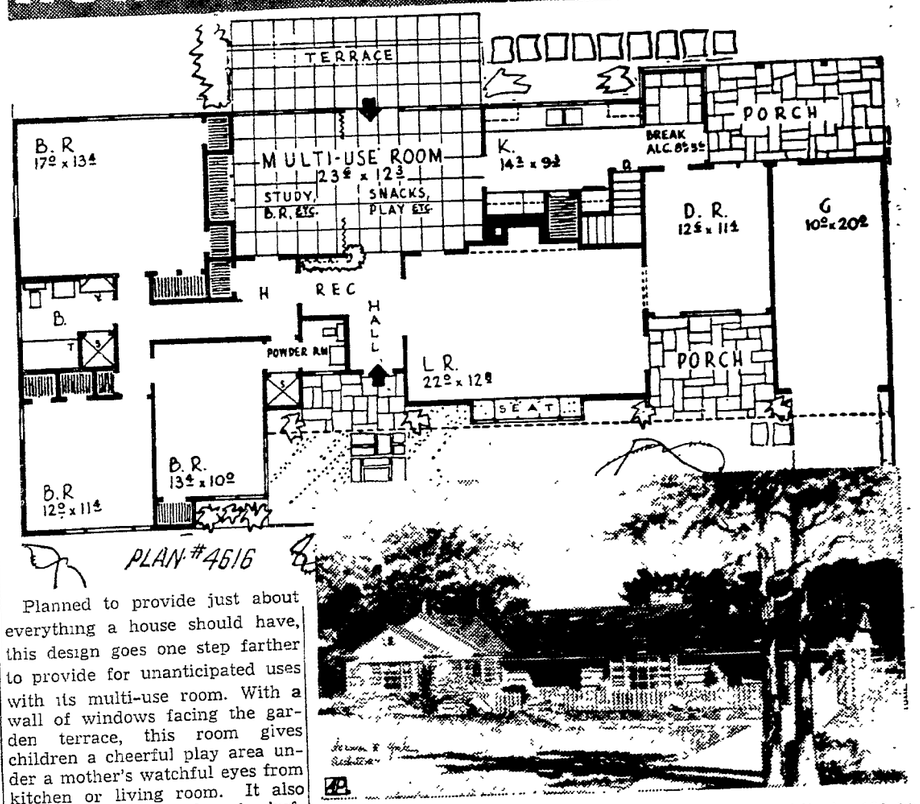
HOMES FOR AMERICANS



PLAN #4616

Planned to provide just about everything a house should have, this design goes one step farther to provide for unanticipated uses with its multi-use room. With a wall of windows facing the garden terrace, this room gives children a cheerful play area under a mother's watchful eyes from kitchen or living room. It also offers a convenient place for buffets or rumpus.

An accordian type, sound-deadening folding partition can divide the room to create a study or extra bedroom. Another feature of this plan is the dining room with window doors opening on both the front and rear porches. The rear porch provides a secluded place for out-door dining as well as a covered passage from garden to kitchen. This is plan No. 4616 by Herman York, architect, 199-33 Keno Ave., Hollis 7, N. Y. It covers 1,954 square feet, exclusive of garage and porches—a figure that can be used for local estimates.

Union Meet Breaks Up in Rough Riot

Rep. Irving Tried To Deny Charges Funds Misused

KANSAS CITY, July 20—(AP)—A Hod Carriers' union broke up in a riot Tuesday night as the union president Rep. Leonard Irving tried to deny charges that he and other officials had misused union funds.

Fifteen police cars raced to the union headquarters to quell fighting that broke out among the members. Two windows of the hall were smashed.

The crowd of 500 men swarmed down the stairs from the second-floor hadd and fighting broke out anew on the lawn.

The Congressman, serving his first term, is president and business agent of the Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers local union, which has 1,800 members.

Eighty-five of the members filed a petition in circuit court Saturday demanding an accounting of union funds, alleging that Irving and two other officials had diverted union money to their own use.

Irving arrived by plane from Washington last night and announced that the union members would be told some things in a meeting tonight.

He said all but three of those signing the petition were Negroes and indicated the trouble may have arisen over the removal of a Negro union member as janitor at the union hall.

Did Not Give Reason

"We did not make public the reason for this move," Irving said. "But the membership certainly will be told the reason at the meeting."

Concerning charges that the membership had not been kept informed on union finances, the Congressman said:

"The secretary reads a financial report at every meeting. Every three months a Certified Public Accountant's audit is read to the membership."

Roy E. Livingston, treasurer and financial secretary, and Alvin Butcher, corresponding and recording secretary, were named with Irving as defendants in the court action.

Circuit Judge Thomas R. Hunt has issued an order for them to appear in court Thursday morning for a hearing on an injunction restraining them from spending union money except for purposes specifically authorized by the union.

W. P. Kennedy to Head B. of R. T.

CLEVELAND, July 20—(AP)—William Parker Kennedy, 57, Canadian-born one-time brakeman, Tuesday night was named president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

The independent union's eight-man board of directors elevated Kennedy from the post of general secretary and treasurer.

He will serve until the Brotherhood's September, 1950, convention. Union sources expressed belief that he would be continued in office by the convention.

Kennedy immediately pledged a militant administration, based on the same principles as those of A. F. Whitney, who died Saturday after 21 years as the trainmen's leader.

Treaty Advocates Want it Free of Reservations

By D. Harold Oliver

WASHINGTON, July 20—(AP)—General critics of the North Atlantic pact consolidated their forces Tuesday behind a 38-word reservation specifying that ratification would carry no "legal or moral" commitment to supply arms to foreign nations

This new threat to administration efforts to keep the treaty free of qualifications came as former secretary of state Henry L. Stimson appealed to senators to adopt the treaty as it.

"If this treaty is beaten, or if its great meaning is befogged by reservations seeming to proceed from fear, we shall not soon be able to repair the damage." Stimson said in telegrams to senators Ives and Dulles, New York Republicans.

The senate, due to vote on the pact and all reservations Thursday, prepared to debate the security treaty for the eleventh day today, but an early recess was taken in memory of Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy who died early today in Detroit.

Off the floor, Senator Taft (R.-Ohio) led the latest move to close opposition ranks behind the no-arms-for-Europe reservation. He, and Senator Watkins (R.-Utah) and Wherry (R.-Neb.), drew up the new reservation, which says:

"Nothing contained in article three creates a legal or moral obligation on the part of the United States to furnish arms, armaments, military, naval or air equipment or supplies to any other party or parties to said treaty."

Article three says:

"In order more effectively to achieve the objectives of this treaty, the parties, separately and jointly, by means of continuous and effective self-help and mutual aid, will maintain and develop their individual and collective capacity to resist armed attack."

Official of G. M. and O. Dies

ST. LOUIS, July 20—(AP)—Arthur L. Jackson of St. Louis, assistant passenger traffic manager of the Gulf, Mobile and Ohio railroad, died here Tuesday of a heart ailment. He was 53 years old.

Friends said Jackson suffered a heart attack about two years ago. He went to St. John's hospital here last Monday for observation and suffered a fatal attack early this morning.

Surviving are his widow, Marie, four daughters and a son, all of St. Louis.

Funeral services will be held here on Friday.

Jackson started his career as an office boy with the old Alton railroad in 1910. In 1933 he was named traveling passenger agent of the G. M. & P., with offices in Little Rock, Ark.

After 10 years there he was sent to Chicago as the line's general passenger agent. He took over as assistant passenger traffic manager in 1947.

Children Taken From Mother

MIAMI, Okla., July 20—(AP)—A 30-year-old mother, charged in the brutal beating of a tiny daughter who died, fainted Tuesday after hearing a judge order her three other children taken from her.

The mother, Mrs. Evelyn Robinett of Picher, will be tried at a fall term of district court for assault with intent to do bodily harm. Meanwhile, county Judge Willis D. Smith ordered the Robinett children, ranging in age from one to five years, be made temporary wards of the state.

They were described by Prosecutor Charles F. Burns as "delinquent and neglected."

Mrs. Robinett's husband, Amos, 38, recently received a five-year prison sentence after pleading guilty to the same charge filed in connection with the death April 4 of Mary Louise Robinett, 2.

The child died from injuries her parents attributed to a fall from a coal bin. Burns said, however, her body was "a mass of bruises" and her injuries indicated she had been beaten.

Backyard is a Girl Preacher's Pulpit

Linda, 11, Holds Weekly Bible Class For Neighborhood Yyoungsters

By NEA Service

CLEVELAND — At an age when most girls are busy playing with dolls, 11-year-old Linda Kassimatis spends her time playing preacher before a sun-suited "congregation."

Every Wednesday afternoon for an hour she gathers her flock of neighborhood youngsters in her backyard for a Bible class More than 40 children usually attend.

With all the decorum of one dedicated to the church, she calmly leads them in hymns and tells Biblical stories

"Linda's always played church. She'd get her dolls together and preach to them," said her mother

"Most children don't go to story hour at church, so I just thought I'd start one here," Linda explained.

Her seriousness in leading her squirming audience never deserts her. Her answer to the discipline problem is, "I just start talking and they keep quiet."

It's not exactly that simple. A couple of the older children act as monitors and her parents stand by to shake a finger at the too active. Linda's father, a cook, is unemployed because of illness.

In front of her on a little bench she keeps her briefcase with the church papers, Bible and bookmarks with religious pictures or texts. She gives the bookmarks to members of the congregation for good attendance or for bringing new members.

Every service ends with the distribution of religious literature and a "treat," a cold drink and

NEW YORK—(AP)—The monotony of modern life sometimes got Wilbur Peeble down.

He felt that way this morning when the alarm clock shrilled him awake. He glanced over at the other twin bed and half-heartedly hoped to see there something to surprise him—perhaps an elephant or a small shetland pony.

But, as usual, he looked only into the eyes of his wife, Trellis Mae, placidly waiting for him to turn off the alarm. Wilbur did.

"Animals don't have to wake up to an alarm clock," he said. "Why should men? The day I retire I am going to throw that darn thing right through the window."

Figured Moodily

But, he figured moodily, that would be 30 years from now, and who could say whether he or the alarm clock would wear out first? He got up to shave and soon noticed a thin streak of crimson on his cheek.

"There are probably 47,000,000 men shaving right at this minute," he thought, "and I have to be the one who cuts himself"

Driving to work Wilbur growled.

"Here I am, just one of maybe 20,000,000 jokers in a mortgaged motor car trying to beat the boss into the office, and there are probably 50,000 traffic cops hiding behind the bushes to catch us. Every day it's the same"

When he got to his desk, he looked around. There were at least 50 other desks exactly like his

Could Put Gin In

"Everybody doing the same thing," Wilbur grumbled. He strolled over to the water cooler and filled a paper cup.

"Water," he said. "Wonder if there ever really was an office where they put gin in the water cooler?"

At 11 59 Wilbur bolted out the door, grabbed an elevator and managed to get to the drugstore in time to grab a counter seat

'Malted milk anna ham san'ich," he mumbled. He looked at the man next to him, munching on a sandwich and drinking a malted milk. Wilbur looked the other way. The girl seated on that side was having a sandwich and a malted milk, too.

"Everybody even eats the same thing—and at the same time," Wilbur thought in desperation. When he was served, he said:

Monotonous

And so it went all day—monotony, monotony.

When Wilbur got home he was in a blue funk. He kissed his wife absent-mindedly. Then as he looked out at the 14-story apartment across the way he thought uneasily

He turned to Trellis Mae and asked:

'Honey, why did you marry me anyway?"

"Why, because you were so different," she said.

"How do you mean?"

"Oh, I don't know. You were just different from the others."

"H-m-m-m,' said Wilbur. He walked into the bathroom, closed the door and studied himself in the mirror Yes, there were lines of honest character in the face that looked back at him

Just Different

"I do look a little different," said Wilbur. "Women are really perceptive" He felt much better.

In the living room Trellis Mae mused to herself

"I wonder why I really did marry the big ape. I guess it was because he looked so lonesome—like he needed to settle down and lead a nice calm life."

Then Wilbur came back in.

"Put on your glad rags, kid," he said. "Let's have dinner out and take in a show."

"People don't say things like 'glad rags' anymore," laughed his wife.

Attorney General Tom Clark Is Given a 39-Page Build-up

By Peter Edson
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The Hon. Tom C. Clark, 49, of Dallas, Tex., completed his fourth year as attorney general of the United cious event, the Department of Justice put out a 39-page statement telling what a great man States the other day. To celebrate this auspi- Mr. Clark has been and is.

Not much attention was paid to this handout. Maybe it was the heat wave, which makes the reading of anything 39 pages long something of a chore. More's the pity. Because this is one of the biggest puff sheets ever put out on any government bureaucrat.

A few sample direct quotes will give you the drift:

"He is the 59th attorney general," the press release begins. One gathers that Mr. Clark must be the greatest one since the last one, anyway. That was Francis Biddle.

"During Mr. Clark's four years as attorney general, the scope of departmental activities and responsibilities has broadened considerably," the report continues.

"Under the direction of Attorney General Clark, from July 1, 1935, to May 31, 1949, more than 150,000 office cases or matters were handled by the criminal division. . . .

"Since Mr. Clark's induction into office, 2226 war frauds complaints have been received and 1506 investigations instituted. . . .

"At the instance of Attorney General Clark in 1947, a program aimed at conspiracies to maintain or increase prices in the food, clothing and housing fields was launched and is being aggressively continued. . . .

Lays Down Anti-Trust Law

"Since the passage of the Sherman Act in 1890, there have been 21 attorneys general and the average number of (anti-trust) cases filed by each has been 42. Since Attorney General Clark has been in office, 160 cases have been instituted. To date 986 cases have been filed. At the rate of anti-trust activity under the present program it is expected that the 1000th anti-trust case will be filed during Mr. Clark's tenure. . . .

"Under the direction of the attorney general the claims division has succeeded in defeating all attacks upon the constitutionality of the Renegotiation Act. . . .

"The attorney general's keen interest in veterans' affairs is reflected in the number of such cases handled by the department. . . .

"The admiralty and war shipping litigation carried on by the department during Mr. Clark's term as attorney general was largely concerned with war-related matters. . . .

"Since the cessation of hostilities, which occurred shortly after Mr. Clark's entry into office as attorney general, the type of land acquisition has changed from acquisitions primarily for defense purposes to acquisitions for dam and reservoir purposes. . . .

"Under Attorney General Clark's direction, the government's drive against tax evaders has reached unprecedented heights. . . .

FBI Record Cited

"The splendid record achieved by the Federal Bureau of Investigation throughout the war . . . is a source of deep pride, not only to Attorney General Clark, but to all citizens everywhere. . . .

"During the past four years the United States, through the attorney general and the Immigration and Naturalization Service, has welcomed for permanent residence 120,000 war brides, 73,000 displaced persons and 426,000 other immigrants.

"Among Mr. Clark's greatest contributions as attorney general has (sic) been his deep and personal interest in, and accomplishments with juveniles. . . .

"The Meritorious Good Time Law . . . has had Mr. Clark's full interest and support.

"Sixty-eight undesirables entered (the U. S.) between 1933 and 1945, and none has entered since Attorney Genral Clark assumd his post.

"In addition, the attorney general, under the provision of the executive order establishing the loyalty program, and after an exhaustive and thorough investigation, has listed a total of 159 organizations in the United States as coming within the purview of that order."

Well, there's a lot more to it than that, but these highlights should be enough. "Mr. Clark" by name, or "the attorney general" by title, are mentioned 55 times in the 39 pages. This leads somewhat naturally to the question, "What's he running for? The presidency?"

And, of course, there is the Supreme Court, now.

Paul Hoffman Appealed In Private Letter Against $50,000,000 to Franco

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON, July 20 — It hasn't been published, but ECA administrator Paul Hoffman has written a strong private letter to Senator Vandenberg, protesting the plan to award a special $50,000,000 gift to Spain.

This grant for the Spanish dictator, to be taken out of Marshall plan funds, was slipped into the ECA appropriations bill by Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada, Democrat, at the prompting of Catholic leaders. It has aroused vigorous opposition from Protestant churchmen because of their contention that Protestants in Spain are given only second-class citizenship, and that the same principle of religious discrimination exists in Spain against Protestants as exists in the Iron Curtain countries against Catholics.

Hoffman, in his letter to Senator Vandenberg, avoided religious references, but warned:

"Because no work has yet started on a recovery program for Spain, it would be most unwise to attempt to gear such a program immediately into the present European recovery program. It would also violate the principle of European initiative. Furthermore, it would create the most difficult political problems for us if we were to attempt to force the OEEC to admit Spain. Admission of new members should, it seems to me, be initiated in the OEEC itself."

No Spanish Plans

"Before granting or loaning Spain money," Hoffman continued, "we should first request that Spain herself develop a recovery program, just as we have insisted that the participating countries develop their recovery program. This program should then be studied, screened, and laid before the Congress as a separate project exactly as was done in the case of Korea. The Congress could then make its decision on a national and informed basis. Any other course would constitute reversion to a practice which in past years has proved wasteful."

Nevertheless the Senate appropriations committee granted Dictator Franco a $50,000,000 share in the Marshall plan, without even requiring him to tell how he was going to use the money — though this was demanded of all the other nations.

Note: In addition to church pressure, two Spanish diplomats worked secretly with Senator McCarran and Senator Dennis Chavez of New Mexico to put across the $50,000,000. They were: Ambassador-at-large Jose Felix de Lequerica, wartime ambassador to Vichy, who came to Washington several months ago for the official purpose of "inspecting the embassy" and has been here ever since; also counselor Pablo Merry Del Val, nephew of the late Cardinal Rafael Merry del Val.

Truman Cuts Hospital Beds

While President Truman is preaching federal spending, he is also practicing economy — in veterans' hospitals. He has ordered 16,000 beds cut out of 24 hospitals, even though Congress has already appropriated the money for these beds.

All the persuasion Senator Claude Pepper, Florida Democrat, could summon didn't change the president's mind on this the other day. Truman bluntly replied that he was standing on his original decision.

Pepper then pleaded with the president to take up each veterans' hospital individually, but he shook his head. He had acted upon the recommendation of the Veterans Administration, itself, he retorted.

"Won't you designate someone we can argue with on this?" begged Pepper.

Pepper acted as spokesman for two Veterans of Foreign Wars leaders who accompanied him to the White House. They were Lyall Beggs, commander, and Omar Ketchum, legislative chief, whose mission was to invite the president to attend the VFW national convention beginning August 22 in Miami.

Truman promised to make a "flying trip" to the convention if Congress didn't load his desk with too many last-minute bills. And, in passing, the president dropped a hint as to when Congress might adjourn.

Turning to Pepper, Truman remarked: "I don't think there is a ghost of a chance of you fellows getting out of here until Labor day."

Ketchum said he understood they were shooting for August 20.

"I think they will get out around Labor day," Truman repeated.

Communism in Cuba — Ambassadors Robert Butler in Havana has warned the state department that the Communists are going to launch a tremendous anti-American campaign throughout Latin America this summer.

House For $5,900 — Housing expediter Tighe Woods has quietly built two attractive, low-cost homes — just to prove it can be done. He worked out the plans with Richard Barr, a Chicago architect. Each home will sell, complete with electric utilities, for $5,900 — and still leave a fair profit. Ordinarily the same homes would sell at twice that price. Yet Woods figures the cost can be cut another $1,000 by mass-scale production.

Prickly Heat is Caused When Skin's Sweat Glands Overheat

Written for NEA Service

In extremely hot and damp weather the skin often breaks out with prickly heat or a heat rash. Small pinhead sized red or pink swellings, sometimes blister-like, appear on the skin. It is caused by overheating the sweat glands which are located almost everywhere just below the surface of the skin. Occasionally there small red swellings of the skin come together and form large blisters.

In places where there is friction on the skin, such as under a belt or a wrist watch band, the skin is particularlyy likely to break out. This is probably because the band tends to prevent the free outflow of sweat. Other places on the body particularly likely to be affected are the back, and the sides of the abdomen.

Typical Symptoms

Prickling, burning sensations, and tingling are common. Itching is usually mild. When the blisters rupture, small crusts form on the skin. The affected skin usually feels warm and dry, especially after exercise. On these places the sweat glands are shut off and therefore there is an absence of sweating.

In northern areas prickly heat is generally little more than an annoyance. In tropical countries, however, severe inflammation of the deeper layers of the skin may be produced.

There is no great problem in diagnosis. Nearly everyone who has prickly heat knows what it comes from and knows that cooler weather or exposure to cooler air will bring about its cure. Even in serious cases avoidance of overheated and moist air is the best treatment. Various cooling and drying lotions and powders are helpful.

The condition is obviously not very serious, although it causes minor discomfort. Like most everything which can be easily avoided, prevention is more desirable than treatment.

QUESTION: What are the chances of a woman with albumin in her urine for having a normal healthy baby?

ANSWER: It all depends on the source of the albumin. If it is caused from some serious disease of the kidneys, pregnacy is likely to be dangerous for both mother and child.

A Letter For Men to Read— Could it be From Your Wife?

Attention all husbands: This letter from one of my readers may have been written by the wife of one of you.

"If there is such a thing as loving a person too much, I do my husband. I try to please him in every way. There was a time when he did the same, but after eight years of marriage, of which four were spent in the service during the war, he takes me and everything else at home for granted.

"Outside of the home he is a polite gentleman, all smiles, but he seems to shed this when he comes home. He snaps at the children and doesn't take any time with them at all. I do all I can for them, but they need a father's love, play and talk some of each day.

"He finds fault with me, and apparently thinks earning a living is sign of love enough. But to me, home all day with the children, cooking, washing, ironing and performing the many other duties of a housewife and mother, it would make me much happier and secure and make me feel that it was all more worth while if he would be more pleasant and show me a little affection and understanding.

Gives In To Husband's Wishes

"There are lots of times when I would like to go places or do something else besides the regular grind here at home, but when he comes in all grouchy, I put away my wants and try to cater to his every wish.

"I would enjoy a meal out some time but he would rather eat at home, which is supposed to be a complaint, I guess.

"I hesitate to talk over problems that arise day by day for he isn't very interested and is likely to sulk if I don't pretend everything is perfect.

"Now, I am not perfect and I may be at fault as much as he is. But I have tried my best for I love my husband very much and we are still young and I'd give anything if we could be happier and have a deeper relationship and understanding in our home."

There's the letter, word for word. Could it have been written by your wife?"

MRS. MALONE locked all the doors in the rear of the Dude Hamburger Ranch, and carrying her suitcases and her winter coat, entered the bar for a last look around.

The wall-clock above the counter said noon. The Los Angeles bus would be along in 20 minutes and would stop for her if she signaled.

She made certain that the hot plates and grills were properly greased to withstand the months of disuse ahead. She tested the locks on the cupboards and cabinets where the tableware and china were stored. Then she closed and barred the shutters, and went outside to wait.

It was a brilliant, clear day in mid-September. The desert no longer shimmied in the full summer heat, and the straight ribbon of road had lost its tar-pit look and was hard and blue under the cloudless sky.

Mrs. Malone was thinking. She had had a good season. Thousands of tourists, Los Angeles bound, had been attracted by the log cabin, the shady porch, the clean restrooms, and had stopped for sodas, hamburgers, coffee, candy bars and cigarets.

She watched the horizon for the bus and mentally recounted her profits. Plenty, she figured, to pay her share at her sister's for the winter.

A few cars passed, but for the most part it was very quiet, the wonderful quiet of the Mojave which takes hold of one like strange music. No matter how many people poured across it, the desert remained untouched, pristine.

* * *

MRS. MALONE loved and feared the silence. It healed her jangled nerves but deepened her loneliness. Her widow-loneliness. Only by keeping busy could she forget for even a moment the loss of her husband Joe. Wonderful, kind, lovable Joe.

She opened her purse to get her handkerchief, but when she looked up she saw something that dried the film of tears. At first she thought it must be a moving-and-storage van or perhaps a truck towing some kind of a house. Gleaming silver white in the sun, it approached from the west. . . .

This thing, whatever it was, now took on the appearance of an armored fortress. It approached swiftly and smoothly until Mrs. Malone was able to identify it as an enormous trailer pulled by a truck. A smaller trailer drawn by a car followed close behind. The "thing" had a tall, cleaving prow, like a ship. It seemed to be made entirely of chromium and was streamlined from bow to stern . . . a great boat-shaped cradle on wheels, glittering so that it hurt the eyes.

The whole caravan slowed up as it approached the log cabin, and directly in front of Mrs. Malone the driver of the leading truck brought the contraption to a stop.

He nodded toward the spectacular trailer. "How'd you like to cook for her?" he asked.

"Hi, there," he called, leaning out of his cab, "is this a bus station?"

She said yes, it was, and that the Los Angeles bus was due any minute.

"Okay."

* * *

THE driver dismounted. He was tall, black-haired, and in his late forties. A handsome fellow, Mrs. Malone thought, but somehow unpleasant. Also his face seemed vaguely familiar.

Quick, catlike he walked back along the trailer and opened a door in its side. As he did so, steps reached out, unfolded, leaned down and touched the pavement. A young woman emerged from the interior of the great silver ark and hurried down the steps. Someone behind her handed out a suitcase and a patent leather hat-box. Silently the steps retracted. The door closed.

The young woman was pretty, in a faded-blonde way, but her expression was so anxious, so troubled, that she looked older than she probably was. The uniformed driver took the luggage and followed her as she hurried toward Mrs. Malone.

"Do you know when the next Los Angeles bus will come?" she asked breathlessly.

"In about five minutes," Mrs. Malone said.

"Thank goodness! Oh, thank goodness!"

"I'll wait," the driver said, putting the luggage down, "and make sure you get aboard."

"No. Please. I'll be all right. This lady here is all the company I need. You go right ahead."

"Mrs. Everson said to wait," the driver insisted. He sat on the cabin steps and lighted a cigaret.

Something in the way he flicked out the match and tossed it aside struck a bell in Mrs. Malone's memory. She certainly had seen him before. He wasn't young, but he was lithe and taut, with hazel eyes and teeth too bone-white to be his own . . . capped teeth . . . like the movie stars. That was it. She had seen him in the movies. Gable? No. But a little like him.

* * *

"Don't try to guess," he said. "It was too long ago. You're not that old."

Unexpectedly, Mrs. Malone said: "I'm 38."

"You don't look it," he said.

He squinted up at the sign: "Dude Hamburger Ranch."

"Do you run this joint?"

"I did. I'm closing today for the winter."

"I'll bet you're a good cook," he said.

"Not bad, but nothing fancy. I like cooking, and that's what counts, I guess."

He nodded toward the spectacular trailer, which stood shimmering like a giant dragonfly in the sun.

"How'd you like to cook for her?" he asked.

"Who's her?"

"Mrs. Everson. She needs a cook and she'll pay big wages. . . ."

"Don't you do it!"

The young woman with the frightened eyes turned on Mrs. Malone with a sort of violence.

FLAG-WAVING WAR—Utter confusion prevails as the first group of Japanese repatriates arrives in Tokyo from Soviet-controlled areas. Communist repatriates wave Red flags. Others wave Japan's "Rising Sun" flags. Still others wave flags bearing inscriptions to help them locate their families and friends. Many of the Communist displaced persons demanded time to register at Tokyo's Communist Party headquarters before departing for their villages in the north.

WHERE 1940 FAMILIES WILL LIVE — Steel skeletons of some of the 12 buildings in the Alfred E. Smith housing project rise on New York's lower east side. The buildings, of 16 and 17 stories, will cost $28,000,000, and, at low cost, will house 1940 families.

Dog Goes To Rescue

Alton, Ill.—(AP)—Mrs. Pauline Hoffman, her son Gerhardt and her dog Ponto were driving through Rock Spring Park.

Suddenly Ponto began a series of maneuvers that meant he wanted to get out. The car was stopped. Ponto bounced away, his ears tuned to faint cries in the distance.

Soon he ran back and, by sound and motion, indicated he wanted company on a return trip. The Hoffmans trailed him.

They found a small cocker spaniel trapped in a hole. The best guess was that he had squirmed in after a rabbit and the earth caved in on him. Only his nose and one paw were in sight. He was dug ont quickly while Ponto watched, head high and tail wagging.

Wrong Year—Wrong Ticket

MIAMI, Fla.—(AP)—T. E. Rakestraw, Miami Policeman, has completed a mission that friends believe is deserving of some sort of medal. Rakestraw was sent to Atlanta, Ga., to pacify the tempers of some 40 Atlantans who had received notices from the Miami police department to "please remit $3" for trafic violations.

The hitch was that none of the Atlanta mortorists had been in Miami. Georgia licence tags expire in April. Miami police thought the 1948 tags were still in effect. The violaters were listed under 1949 numbers.

Take 'Rip' Out of 'Van Winkle'

Royal Engineers sappers hoist a 2,500-pound German bomb from a pit dug around it in the crowded Grafton Way district of London. Undiscovered since the 1940 blitz, the sleeper was promptly dubbed "Rip Van Winkle" by the nickname-loving British press. A six-man crew, under the personal direction of Major F. S. Knight, defused the bomb in a tense 90-minute work session and the bomb removed. Half a square mile of the district had been roped off for a week and 2,000 persons, among them 427 patients in the nearby University hospital, were evacuated until the bomb could be removed. It was found by workmen digging foundation holes. (AP Wirephoto)

PRAGUE—(AP)—Budapest will see several score athletes racing like mad through its streets in August, then plunging into the Danube river and swimming from Buda to Pest—or vice versa. The exact route has not yet been chosen.

It will be part of the summer students games, sponsored by the International Students Union, whose headquarters are in Prague.

Helicopters and Parachutists Help Foresters Fight Fire With Flight

By Douglas Larsen
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The U. S. is prepared to meet this summer's forest fire threat through the air.

There are two aerial weapons against fires that blacken and destroy our forests — "smoke jumpers" and helicopters.

The U. S. Forest Service has been developing the technique of dropping men in parachutes to fight fires for 10 years. Its corps of 300 expertly trained men is always ready to be flown to practically any part of the country. They constitute one of the most efficient outfits of their kind in the world.

These smoke jumpers spearhead all of the paid and volunteer efforts which are marshalled when a big blaze is first discovered. Because the can reach the scene so swiftly, many times just a few of them can get a fire under control which otherwise would destroy millions of acres of valuable timber.

Although the work is extremely hazardous, the equipment which is now provided for them has kept injuries resulting from the drop itself almost negligible in the past two years. The actual fire fighting and the possibility of being surrounded by a wall of blazing trees are the dangerous elements of the game. Each man is heavily padded, wears steel leg guards, has his face protected with a heavy iron screen and his head covered with a tough helmet.

He carries with him specially-designed picks, shovels and axes, plus a quantity of explosives, first aid equipment and food.

The helicopter has come into use more recently, but it has many advantages in fighting forest fires. First, it serves as a sort of aerial command post for the person directing the activities. Hovering over the fire, he can see which way it is headed, where it is most dangerous and where a concentration of effort would be most effective.

It can also be used to get men and equipment from one spot to another quickly. Once a smoke-jumper has bailed out, he is committed to that particular spot regardless of whether the fire should become more serious in another spot. The helicopter can also evacuate men when a fire threatens to surround them, keep the fighters fed and supplied with equipment when they are in action and get them back to hospitals quickly when they are injured.

Although the Forest Service has had more than 700 hours of fire fighting experience with helicopters, it owns none. It has to charter them from private companies when they are needed. Usually, during a dry season, when there is an alert, the location of all helicopters in the area will be determined beforehand and they will be kept on a standby basis.

The bright spot in the forest fire picture for this summer is the giant snowfall which paralyzed the West and Midwest last winter. Fortunately — for the flood threat as well as the fire hazard — the snow melted slowly. Instead of running rapidly off the ground into the rivers as it melted, it seeped gradually into the ground.

This factor has kept the forest fire danger in the U. S. — except in the East — from developing faster than normally. But any kind of a drought in the Western or Midwestern states, comparable to the one which hit the Atlantic coast, could quickly wipe out this temporary advantage, Forest Service officials warn.

List of Rooms to Be Kept on File

During the recent convention of the Missouri Rural Letter Carriers Association there were many of the rooms listed at the Chamber of Commerce office filled, but due to the fact that the registration was far below the number expected many of the rooms were not needed.

The Chamber of Commerce will will keep the list of rooms on file for use during the Missouri State Council of Fire Fighters convention to be held here August 12 and 13, unless notified to take the name off the list.

Joint Session Odd Fellows, Rebekahs

The Odd Fellow Lodge, 153, and Loyal Rebekah Lodge, 260, were "At Home" to the lodges of seven counties of this district, at Liberty park Sunday afternoon. The meeting was in charge of Mrs. D. W. Several beautful songs were gven by the Eats Sedalia Bapeist church quartet, who are Mr. Clyde Waters, Mr. J. F. Kirkhart, E. W. Roffey and A. E. Messenger, with Mrs. Clyde Waters at the piano, all the numbers were enjoyed.

The address on Odd Fellowship and Rebekahism was presented by the Reverend Walter P. Arnold. He stresses the three letters, F. L. and T. and the thing they stand for. There were several more members given by the quartet. A country ham and fried chicken dinner to which all contributed, was served with various home made cakes, pies and salads, there being service for about 100 members and families.
